Strike Voluntary Annuity Clause From Security Bill

INSURANCE FOR JOBLESS IS APPROVED

All Sections of Bill Are Approved by Committee Excepting Annuities

BALLOT IS 21 TO 4

Controversy Arises Over Contributory Old Age Plans and Size of Tax

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(UP)—The house ways and means committee voted today to strike out of the social security bill the old age voluntary annuity section—the only security phase of the omnibus bill affecting those who earn more than $3,000 a year.

The committee approved all other sections of the bill except that relating to contributory old age benefits. The contributory benefit sections are being studied by a subcommittee.

Several days ago the committee by a vote of 13 to 11 decided to retain the section. Today's decision came after a caucus of Democratic members of the committee to discuss the effect on private insurance companies of the government annuities.

The original voluntary annuity section would have enabled citizens to buy annuities at a low rate from the government of sufficient amount to assure them of a maximum $100 a month income after 65. The $100 figure was reduced to $50 earlier in the week by the committee.

Rep. David J. Lewis, D., Md., house sponsor of the administration bill, fought strenuously for the provision and predicted that another attempt might be made to replace it before the measure is reported to the house next week.

The vote to strike out the voluntary section was announced as 21 to 4. Chairman Robert L. Doughton said it was knocked out "over my dead body."

Two other Democrats, it was learned, voted to retain it. The unemployment insurance section, calling for a payroll tax of one per cent starting next January and graduating to three per cent three years later, was approved without a dissenting vote.

Doughton said it was hoped to act on contributory old age annuities later today or tomorrow. A controversy has developed over the size of the old age tax, which would start at two per cent on payrolls and earnings and run to six per cent in 13 years.

TRIO KIDNAPED BY BANDITS RELEASED

CHICAGO, March 29.—(UP)—Police announced today that a man and two women kidnaped by three Wisconsin bank bandits Wednesday were released unharmed in Cicero, Ill., the same afternoon. Previously four persons were reported held as hostages by the fleeing gunmen.

Sheriff Morg Reiter, of Juneau county, Wis., who came here to obtain custody of the bandit trio, said it was an erroneous report that caused peace officers to start a search for four kidnaped persons.

"We have the names of the man and woman released in Cicero a few hours after the abduction and they have definitely established that no others were in the sedan commandeered by the bandits," Reiter said.

JOHN PAUL CHASE OFF TO ALCATRAZ

CHICAGO, March 29.—(UP)—John Paul Chase, convicted slayer of federal agent Samuel P. Crowley, was en route today to San Francisco to begin a life sentence in Alcatraz prison.

He was taken aboard the Northwestern railroad's Overland Limited last night, manacled to a deputy United States marshal. He grinned without an apparent care at the small crowd that saw him off.

"I'll tell Al Capone hello for you Chicago guys," he said.

S. A. College Debaters In Double Win

Negative and Affirmative Teams Win Championship at San Bernardino

CHAMPIONS of the Eastern division of the Southern California association, Santa Ana junior college's undefeated debaters, coached by John H. McCoy of the speech department, began further preparations today for Southland title matches with the winners of the Western division, now being held by junior colleges at Long Beach and Los Angeles.

Competing against San Bernardino, defending champion, Coach McCoy's affirmative and negative teams each received a 2-1 decision over A. R. Truscott's quietest of debaters at San Bernardino last night to maintain a perfect record in league competition for 1935.

"Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Immediately Adopt a Plan of Compulsory Unemployment Insurance" was the subject, and the outcome of the two debates settled a first-place tie between Santa Ana and San Bernardino.

Robert Tannenbaum and Harold Woodward of Santa Ana, representing the affirmative, defeated Carroll Morgan and Audlen Henry of San Bernardino. Debating the negative side of the question, Glen Bishop and Claude Owens triumphed over Harry Locklin and Bruce Ekerson. Varsity debaters of the University of Redlands served as judges.

All Graduates.

Santa Ana's champion quartet completed two years of varsity debating with victories last night. All are graduating sophomores. Bishop and Owens have been undefeated in league competition since 1933, when Santa Ana first won the Eastern title. Tannenbaum was a member of the 1933 champions. Woodward, then at Santa Ana high school, placed second in the Toastmasters oratorical contest two years ago, and annexed second honors in the annual University of Redlands declamation contest.

Santa Ana and San Bernardino have dominated debating competition in a league also including Fullerton, Riverside, Chaffey of Ontario, Pomona and Citrus of Glendora.

Nathan Elliott Denies All Allegations; Will Be Recalled Later

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—(UP)—Senate and assembly investigating committees hoped to conclude today their inquiry into reports that a truck lobbyist boasted he controlled the Southern California assembly delegation and could pass or defeat any bill for $33,000.

Nathan J. Elliott, the man accused of the boast, denied all allegations when he testified before the senate committee late yesterday. He was to be called again this afternoon to repeat his testimony before the assembly group.

Elliott, manager of the Independent Truck Owners association branded as "absolutely false" all insinuations that he had demanded $33,000 to win his support of a bill proposing to place truck lines under jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. He likewise denied reports that he had boasted of holding the southern delegation in the palm of his hand; had paid legislators' railroad fares to Sacramento; had furnished gaming tables which were utilized as a method of "passing money to legislators in a legitimate manner."

"I wouldn't support that bill for any amount of money," he said. "It is opposed by a majority of truck men because they feel that they would be under control of the railroad commission, which is controlled by the railroads. They want a bill creating a trucking commission under direction of the state department of motor vehicles."

Reports of the $33,000 figure arose, he said, from discussions he had with proponents who believed truckmen would approve of this purpose.

FITTS APPEAL WILL BE HEARD APRIL 14

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—(UP)—The supreme court today set April 14 as the date to hear the appeal of Burton Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles, on charges of misconduct in office.

The hearing will be held in San Francisco.

District court of appeals rejected Fitts' appeal and he went to the supreme court.

He contends that in the original hearing only 11 jurors took action in the case. This is illegal, his complaint stated.

Radio Operator On Morro Castle Attempts Suicide

NEW YORK, March 29.—(UP)—George L. Alagna, assistant radio operator of the liner Morro Castle around whom sensational charges revolved in the investigation of the vessel's disaster at sea, was found unconscious in the gas filled kitchen of his home today.

Attaches of Bellevue hospital said he probably would recover from what police termed a suicide attempt.

Police entered the apartment of the 26-year-old radio operator after tenants complained of a strong odor of gas.

On a table near Alagna's unconscious form they found a note apparently started by him but left unfinished.

It was addressed to "Dear Ed," and it contained the words, "Now my mouth is feeling dry." Police declined to reveal the entire contents but said the writing near the end was an illegible scrawl.

BACK TO FARM MOVE EMBODIED IN BILL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 29.—(UP)—Creation of a California rehabilitation authority to aid California families in a back-to-the-farm movement would be authorized in a bill introduced today by Assemblyman C. Don Field, Glendora.

An immediate state appropriation of $50,000 was sought in the bill. The author said that prospects were good for a federal loan of several million dollars out of $900,000,000 already earmarked for this purpose.

Funds would be used for the purchase of land, improvements, seed, livestock and other necessary equipment. The land would be divided in small tracts ranging from 20 to 30 acres to be sold on long-term, low interest contracts to unemployed families. No down payment would be required.

MOVIE STUDIOS THREATEN TO MOVE TO FLORIDA; "LET 'EM GO" SAYS SENATOR EDWARDS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 29.—(UP)—Legislators and state officials figuratively shrugged their shoulders today and said, "Too bad, but it can't be helped" as they discussed latest reports from the Hollywood vs. Taxation battle front.

Of particular interest to them was a statement from Joseph M. Schenck, film producer, "demanding" unconditional assurance that no taxation ever be levied on the picture business. He indicated he included income taxes which would affect motion picture stars and employees.

"Ridiculous," said William Moseley Jones, voicing the opinion of a large part of the Southern California assembly delegation. "Joe Schenck should know better than to say that. We can't say what future legislators shall or shall not do."

SLAYER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

OSHING, N. Y., March 29.—(UP)—Albert H. Fish, 65, convicted slayer of Grace Budd, 10, today slashed his abdomen with two pieces of bone, inflicting painful but not serious wounds, Sing Sing prison authorities announced.

The slayer, in the death house awaiting execution, sharpened the bones of pork chops in his teeth. Warden Lewis E. Lawes said. Keeper Daniel Maloney discovered the aged convict mutilating himself.

Fish, who developed a religious mania shortly after his arrest, inflicted the wounds in the shape of a cross.

HEIRESS OFF FOR RENO ON SATURDAY

NEW YORK, March 29.—(UP)—Barbara Hutton Mdivani fortified herself within her father's Park Avenue apartment today, refusing to see anyone or to utter a word.

Her private railroad car was made ready for a trip to Reno, Nev., where she will divorce her husband, Prince Alexis Mdivani of the marrying Maldivians.

Barbara arrived yesterday from Europe and caused more excitement on the waterfront than has been known there in many a day. With the assistance of a miniature and impromptu vaudeville show by the crew of the S. S. Bremen to divert newspapermen and aided by a series of gangplanks, the 5 and 10 helress slipped away to her father's home.

Barbara is expected to leave for Reno Saturday.

PRESIDENT FISHES OFF CUBAN COAST

MIAMI, Fla., March 29.—(UP)—President Roosevelt fished for barracuda today under a blazing tropical sun off the northern coast of Cuba.

Mr. Roosevelt, according to latest radio advice from the Astor yacht Naumahal, is in the vicinity of Great Inagua island off the Bahamas group. There, with a party of close friends, he was having exceptional luck at hooking big ones.

The president late yesterday was joined by his eldest son, James.

Mr. Roosevelt was informed that Louis M. Howe's condition was much better and that he was showing steady improvement. Howe is senior White House secretary.

A seaplane from the coast guard base here is in almost daily contact with the Naumahal, carrying important papers that require the president's attention as well as mail and newspapers.

Solons Pass Up Bills To Start Home

Controversial Subjects Are Passed Up; Weekend Vacation Ordered

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 29.—(UP)—Controversial subjects were avoided today as the restless legislature cast, long glances at the spring sunshine and prepared for a weekend rest. Early adjournment until Monday was made possible when the assembly postponed until that day further consideration of building and loan reorganization measures and the start of an expected fight on a short train bill.

These two pieces of legislation had been scheduled as special orders of business for today, but the assemblymen had no desire to remain here this afternoon. Most of them planned to go home for the weekend.

At the other end of the building, Lieut. Gov. George J. Hatfield, president of the senate, showed his customary Friday speed in rushing through the routine business of considering the file and delaying action on controversial bills.

The senate committee on education gave a do pass recommendation to SB 72 providing for changing the names of teachers colleges to state colleges, but eliminated a provision permitting the granting of full arts degrees, thus preventing the state college from becoming full-fledged liberal arts schools.

This bill has attracted wide interest in the state, and was expected to create a prolonged argument on the floor.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam signed SB 147, a bill establishing a street and highways code.

Envoy Eden And Stalin To Confer

Soviet Demands Guarantee of Peace in Eastern Europe, Reported

MOSCOW, March 29.—(UP)—Russia urged on Great Britain today the absolute necessity of a treaty to guarantee the peace of eastern Europe, and argued that if Germany and Poland refused to adhere, it would be because they wanted war.

Anthony Eden, British cabinet envoy, continued his talks with Maxim Litvinov, Russia's brilliant foreign minister. The privilege of an appointment to meet Josef Stalin, leader of the Soviet, was accorded him. Stalin, secretary general of the Communist party, not titular head of the government, rarely sees foreign visitors.

There seemed no doubt from the tenor of the negotiations that the visit of Eden would mean cementing relations between capitalist Britain and Communist Russia on a firmer basis than they have seen since the Bolshevik revolution.

For the first time since the inauguration of the Soviet government King George's health was officially toasted on Russian soil last night.

Litvinov, Eden's host at dinner, raised his wine glass and said:

"I drink the health of his majesty the King."

Litvinov was as frank as diplomats can be when he spoke at the dinner.

Without mentioning Germany by name, he hinted to Eden that Germany menaces not only Russia but England, and he said that never since the World War has peace been menaced as it is now.

"None of us," he said, "is clever enough to be able to foretell exactly which state or states would be first or more greatly affected by this danger (of aggression), for it hangs in all directions."

Litvinov continued to say that he believed Eden's visit was not merely the beginning of actual Russian-British cooperation in the interest of peace, but a pledge of its continuance.

After an international stabilization agreement, Van Zeeland would re-base the Belgas on gold at a minimum devaluation of 30 per cent.

The national bank's obligation to exchange gold for bank notes would be suspended.

ABANDON CAR IN MEMPHIS EARLY TODAY

Two Held as Hostages in Rumble Seat Get Away In Outskirts of City

SOUND GENERAL ALARM

Raymond Hamilton, Public Enemy No. 1 Escapes as Officers Surround Bog

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 29.—(UP)—Police sounded a general alarm today for capture of Raymond Hamilton, Texas desperado, and a fellow bandit after two Mississippi men they were holding as hostages escaped.

The hostages, M. E. Smith, Jeff Davis county farm agent, and Ralph Ballis, of Trenton, Miss., piled open the rumble seat of a Ford V-8 coupe in which they had been locked, and escaped. The car had reached the outskirts of Memphis at the time.

The car from which the hostages escaped was found later in front of a hotel in downtown Memphis.

Smith and Ballis, captured by the desperados yesterday when they terrorized southern Mississippi communities, used a tire tool to escape from the rumble seat.

Instead of coming on into Memphis and reporting to officers, they caught a taxi and drove back to Hernando, Miss., where they reported to Sheriff Campbell.

Sheriff Campbell was en route back to Memphis with the men to confer with police and department of justice agents.

Police sent out radio warnings to citizens throughout this territory to be on the lookout for the two bandits.

THREE PAY DEATH PENALTY IN CANADA

MONTREAL, March 29.—(UP)—A woman and two men were hanged in Bordeaux jail yard today.

Mrs. Tomasina Sarao, 51, Leon Gagliardi, 38, and Angelo Bonofrio, 19, a high school student, died for the murder of Mrs. Sarao's husband.

She was a stoical figure on the gallows. Her hanging was bungled. The rope was too long, permitting the body to drop 18 feet before being jerked up on the rope's end. The force of the jerk decapitated her.

The Bordeaux jail has a central nucleus with cell wings radiating from it like the points of a star. Gallows were set up in the yard between the points, one gallows for the two men, another for the woman.

DEALERS POINT TO LOWER MEAT PRICES HERE

Complaints made by Los Angeles housewives regarding high prices for meats in the metropolitan city are not being made to local meat merchants, it was learned today in checking with local meat retailers, and for a very good reason, the reason being that meats in Santa Ana are cheaper here than in Los Angeles or in any other part of the state.

One meat merchant said that prices here range as much as 20 per cent below the Los Angeles prices. Although the wholesale prices of meats were reported to have increased greatly, meat merchants here have not raised prices in line with advances on the wholesale market, it was reported.

Ray McIntosh, operator of the Empire Meat market, said that meats are much cheaper at his market than in Los Angeles markets because the store has followed a policy of selling meats cheaper than in other places. Meats, he said, in the Empire market are from three to four cents a pound cheaper here than in Los Angeles, and meat products such as lard, etc., run about the same. McIntosh said that because his market secures meat from the McIntosh packing plant here it is possible to effect lower prices.

Henry Schmidt, proprietor of the Arcade Meat market in the Grand Central market, pointed out that while good meat cannot be sold for little money, meats not only are cheaper here than in Los Angeles, but are too cheap because the meat merchant cannot make a fair profit now with the high prices for wholesale delivery. He said in order to keep men employed and off of relief rolls the meat merchant will have to have a fair profit.

H. E. Nelson, of the Annex Meat market in the Grand Central building, declared that according to prices published in Los Angeles, meats here are 20 per cent cheaper. He said the reason for the increase in meat prices was that on January 1 there was 15 per cent less cattle in the United States than in the year before, and that on February 1 of this year there were 55 per cent less hogs than the year before. On January 15 of this year, he said, meat prices were 28 per cent lower than in 1930 and substantially below the prices from 1926 to 1930. Farmers, he said, are now getting three times as much for hogs as 15 months ago and two and a half times as much as they did for beef eight months ago.

Nearly every meat merchant is selling meats at rock bottom prices here, E. R. Urbine of Urbine's Meat market in the Grand Central market building, said. Prices for quality meat, he said, are about the same in most places. He pointed out that retail merchants and packers have no control over the price.

H. S. Wright, of the Pay'n'Takt stores, declared that meat prices are lower now than they have been for a long time here and are much cheaper than in Los Angeles. Meat merchants, he said, are trying to make up for smaller profits with a larger volume of business.

R. A. McCarthy, of the Alpha Beta markets, said it is his opinion that meats are cheaper in Santa Ana than in any place in the United States. Prices have advanced some, he said, but the market is a little off now because prices mounted upward too fast after being held a minimum for a long time. He attributed the rise in prices to the government program of curtailment and reduction. High prices on pork, he said, are largely due to the fact that there is a three and one-half cent a pound processing tax on dressed hogs.

LABOR LEADER ENDORSES NRA FUNDAMENTALS

NRA endorsement was given in the course of Green's testimony.

He said NRA had given millions of workers an opportunity to organize for collective bargaining for the first time in their lives and that they would not see that right taken away without a struggle.

"On this most important phase of the new economic order instituted by the NRA, we need now to take the second step," he added.

"We need to strengthen and clarify the collective bargaining provisions of the act. I have already urged this can best be done by a federal statute, as proposed by the Wagner labor disputes bill."

Self Organization

This, Green declared, would extend the right of self organization and collective bargaining to all employees. This right, he said, must not be conferred as an emergency measure but must become part of the changed economic order.

Green charged that most of those opposing enactment of the NRA were "chiselers" and those who thought they could get along without government cooperation. He said cooperation was essential with 11,000,000 workers still unemployed.

Labor, he said, probably had more cause for complaint with the way NRA has worked out than any other group. He called attention to charges that the collective bargaining provisions of the law have been enforced, that minimum wages established in the codes are too low and working hours too long, and that labor has not been given sufficient place in the determination of code provisions. In spite of this, he added, labor wants NRA continued and all its points of complaint are based on an anticipation of continuance.

Green said small business had not been hurt by NRA, except those businesses that had to pay "sweatshop" wages in order to endure.

Generally, Green held that profit had increased, production expanded and at least a part of the unemployed had been absorbed as a result of the recovery program.

Robert Irvin, 60, veteran of the Spanish American War, died at his home at 1910 South Main street yesterday. Death came suddenly. Irvin, who was working yesterday, was believed to have died from heart trouble. He was born in Galatia, Illinois, and had lived here for the past 12 and a half years.

Funeral services will be held from the Harrell and Brown funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, tomorrow at 3 p. m. with the Rev. C. D. Hicks officiating.

Burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Introduction of a large majority of the candidates for election to various city offices in the April 8 election and considerable hilarity brought about through their "ribbing" by Franklin West, who acted as master of ceremonies, featured the Santa Ana American Legion post candidate's dinner meeting last night in Veterans hall.

A short business meeting preceded the candidate's meeting. Marion Dodder, chairman of the membership committee, reported the Legion post here now to have a membership of 325. About 160 attended the meeting. Commander Bert Casteix presided.

all of us must pay. We can't give special consideration to the motion picture people. "As for guaranteeing the movies against any taxes, that's impossible. We can't dictate to the next legislature. That's a foolish statement and Schenck ought to know it."

High state officials who declined to be quoted said the motion picture companies were planning to move east, closer to their head offices, anyway, and were using the taxation argument as an excuse.

They pointed out that development of the industry had eliminated the necessity of having "color," "atmosphere," good weather and all outdoor sets for the making of a majority of pictures; that small studios, established anywhere, could handle a bulk of the picture making nowadays; that it was no longer necessary for the companies to maintain their chief operating headquarters in California.

"Schenck's arrogance will avail him nothing," one senate leader said. "If the motion picture industry wants to move to Florida, let it start packing. I for one will not guarantee that or any other industry immunity from legislation. It's one of the silliest demands I've ever heard."

"There is no intention of discriminating against motion picture companies just because of their large revenues," Sen. W. P. Rich said. "I doubt whether a footage tax on films will ever obtain sufficient votes if it is presented on the floor."

HOPE TO END LOBBY PROBE THIS EVENING

the railroad commission bill if they understood its provisions.

"I said there was only one way to determine that," Elliott testified. "A plebiscite would be necessary. Literature would have to be sent out, 150 or 200 meetings held, and some 7,000 truckmen polled. I said this task would cost approximately $33,000. I was to receive none of it."

He denied he told proponents that for $33,000 he could establish a strong lobby that would result in the bill's passage.

Elliott said reports that he claimed control of 28 assemblymen probably arose from discussions based on the November 25 issue of a newspaper published by his trucking association, which carried reproductions of letters from legislators and state officials. Some of the letters acknowledged endorsement of the association; some pledged support of trucking legislation.

Included among these were letters from Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, and Assemblymen Wright, Reaves, Richie, Geyer, Gilbert, Utt, Ralph W. Evans, Lore, Glover, Redwine, Clark, H. J. Evans, Robertson, McBride, Cunningham, Laughlin, Boyle, Waters, Riley and Flint.

HIGH OFFICERS OF G. A. R. AT POST MEETING

Sedgwick Post No. 17, Grand Army of the Republic, has accepted an invitation to attend the First Christian church on Memorial Sunday, May 26, it was announced today following the regular session of the post when two prominent G. A. R. visitors were present.

The visitors to the post were Col. Russell C. Martin, Los Angeles, past commander in chief of the G. A. R. and Dr. Overton H. Menzies, past department commander of California and Nevada, also of Los Angeles.

Commander J. H. Brown of the local post turned the gavel over to Menzies, who introduced Colonel Martin. Colonel Martin spoke briefly on the history of the G. A. R. and of the condition of the organization today. He raised the question as to how long the organization can carry on, saying he doubted if the present commander in chief, Alfred E. Stacy, of Elbridge, New York, would be able to take charge of the coming convention in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Comrade J. W. Grimes, of Long Beach, and Comrade A. B. Williams, of Phillipsburg, Penn., also spoke briefly.

BANDIT MAKES ESCAPE FROM FEDERAL TRAP

Mississippi's history began at dawn today when sheriff's posse and national guardsmen penetrated swamplands of the wild Pearl river in search of Ray Hamilton, Texas murderer and public enemy No. 1, who was believed trapped with an outlaw companion and two kidnap victims.

A cordon of 200 national guardsmen and police officers patrolled the area all night, guarding every highway outlet. Adjutant Gen. Thomas J. Grayson of the Mississippi national guard was in charge of the search. He issued orders to "shoot to kill on sight."

Fear was expressed by officers that Hamilton may have killed the two hostages he seized early yesterday during a wild dash across southern Mississippi. The bandit's prisoners were M. E. Smith, farm agent of Jefferson Davis county, and Ralph Ballis of Prentiss, Miss.

The outlaws were last sighted on a winding country road near Georgetown, Miss., on the edge of the swamp shortly after 6 p. m. last night. In the wild confusion of rumors and excitement which followed the daring dash of the outlaws for liberty last night, officers feared Hamilton may have slipped through the swamps and out of the state.

Three women, believed to be accomplices of the outlaws, were seized early yesterday and are held in jail at Prentiss. They gave their names as Ashleen Smith and Cloe Edwards of New Orleans and Mrs. Birdie Honeycutt of Carson, Miss.

Hamilton escaped from the Texas penitentiary death house while awaiting execution for murder. He is deadly and merciless with machine gun and revolver and has written taunting letters to officials announcing he had no intention of being taken alive.

The outlaws fled into the Pearl River swamp one mile west of Georgetown after terrorizing Southern Mississippi all afternoon. After robbing the bank of Blountville at Prentiss of $1,500 they shot a woman, kidnaped four men, stole four automobiles, and disarmed one of a dozen posesses.

One was believed wounded when a farmer resisted their attempt to steal his car with a load of buck-shot. Twelve miles from Prentiss, they captured and disarmed 25 members of a posse. Doubling back, they came upon the posse unaware and began firing from behind. W. C. Thomas, Collins bank cashier, and E. L. Dent, hostages, were being forced to ride on the running board. Rather than risk killing the innocent men, the posse surrendered its arms.

PREMIER URGES BELGIUM LEAVE GOLD STANDARD

He asked state guarantee of bank deposits in order to reassure depositors against fear of frozen funds.

What the new premier called "the intermediate currency regime" would start Sunday.

He asked special powers to govern during the economic crisis, with occasional consultation with parliament, and he proposed recognition of Soviet Russia.

The new premier's proposals mark a split in the European gold bloc headed by France and including Switzerland and the Netherlands. For that reason they may have international repercussions of great importance.

Van Zeeland is an admirer of President Roosevelt's new deal and his proposals are along the line of Mr. Roosevelt's action in devaluing the dollar.

His statement was made in a 45-minute ministerial declaration in the Chamber of Deputies on the occasion of his first appearance in Parliament as premier. He took office Monday.

Parliament will sit in continuous session until it has voted approval or disapproval of the declaration by a vote of confidence or no confidence in the new premier.

Wright, weighing 240 pounds, played tackle last season, but Coach Harry Kipke thinks he'll make an ideal snapper-back.

PRaise GIVEN LEgAYE FOR STAND TAKEN

Pointing out the necessity for tax reduction and the elimination of all waste, extravagance, and duplication in governmental affairs, the five candidates for city council endorsed by the Taxpayers league were presented and spoke briefly last night before a taxpayers mass meeting held at the Temple theater.

The economy program will not disrupt the public service, as opposition campaign rumors have hinted, but instead will bring about greater efficiency of government at a lessened cost, it was declared by A. F. LeGaye, leader of the group and author of the LeGaye resolution against treasury "handouts" for which he received no support from present council members.

Through economies and savings, the taxpayers' ticket, if elected, will continue the city government in a more satisfactory manner than ever before and raise the salaries of present underpaid city employees of the lower brackets without burdening the taxpayer, LeGaye declared.

LeGaye, greeted by enthusiastic applause, said he had many "strong enemies" because he had fought the taxpayers' fight alone while a member of the council, unable to get support for his now noted economy resolution, which would provide for no appropriation of public funds to private groups, and only for governmental purposes.

Charges Control
"I could have been a good fellow, too, and fooled you taxpayers, and spent $100,000; but I didn't, and so I got in bad with the machine," he declared. Not one of the present council is a free agent, he charged. However, he added, they are now beginning to take up some of the ideas adopted eight or 10 months ago.

D. Jones, Jr., John E. Hall, C. A. Harnois and Steele Finley followed with brief statements, pledging their adherence to the Taxpayers League platform, which is built around the LeGaye resolution. Harnois told of his own action in filing an injunction suit against the council's attempt to loan $250,000 on the taxpayers by direct tax, after a bond issue, which they had endorsed, had been defeated. His action, he said, saved the taxpayers $140 on each $100 of their property this year.

Finley, who explained that he had "helped Billy Spurgeon pull up the mustard" to found the postoffice here in 1878, recounted his organization of a paving concern in the early days to fight an increase in paving cost that was being forced on the people. Officials should practice the same economy with public money that they would practice with their own, he declared.

A. G. Diehl, president of the Taxpayers' league, presided over the meeting, with Charles E. Dixon acting as secretary. Diehl, introducing the speakers, recalled the last mass meeting in the theater, when a successful fight had been launched against the 12-cent city advertising and music tax. The league's council candidates, he said, all are big taxpayers.

Extravagant and wasteful acts of incumbent councilmen and their repeated refusal to cooperate with LeGaye for tax economy were scored by Fred Vollmer, who at great length denounced the "puppet government" which he charged now exists. Roars of laughter greeted the speaker's ironical declaration that as a result of the council's payment of $2000 for a "hole in the ground" in Santiago creek, "prosperity has arrived in Santa Ana and the price of real estate has skyrocketed to the stratosphere." The $2000 payment was at $400 per acre, an increase of 18,000 per cent over a price of $2.50 per acre previously paid, he declared.

Vollmer pointed out that Councilman William Penn is also an employee of the county welfare department, thus holding two public jobs, and that Plummer Bruns, fifth ward councilman, sells hardware to political units and cannot be free to exercise independent judgment in municipal affairs.

In a burst of sarcasm, the speaker said Bruns had joined a Townsend club two weeks ago for political purposes, and sometime would investigate the pension plan and find out what it is.

Praising LeGaye
Paying a glowing tribute to A. F. LeGaye, former councilman who resigned because he believed, he said, that the council's actions were legally questionable, Vollmer urged that the Taxpayers league ticket, including LeGaye, D. Jones, Jr., John Hall, C. A. Harnois and Steele Finley, should be elected to give a "New Deal" in city government and for the interests of the taxpayer.

The speaker nailed what he said were false campaign rumors, including the rumor that the League candidates would discontinue garbage collection service, and make the city firemen gather garbage, if elected. The candidates had no such intention, he said.

The dead child is Toshiyo Nagato, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Nagato, residing on R.E.D. No. 3, Santa Ana, who passed away at the county hospital last evening at 8:30 o'clock, following the crash at 4 p. m.

Injured in the same accident were Mrs. Shina A. Nagato, mother of the dead boy; K. Kawamoto, 56, driver of the car in which they were riding, and Minnie Kidd of 322 South Kroeger street, Anaheim, driver of the other car involved in the crash.

Mrs. Nagato was taken to the county hospital suffering from concussion and cuts and bruises. Kawamoto was given first aid treatment for minor injuries and released.

CHILD KILLED DEFENDANT IN AUTO CRASH MANSLAUGHTER NEAR STANTON CASE ABSENT

Failure of Thomas R. Johnson, or today, to appear in superior court today for arraignment on a charge of manslaughter and failure to render aid after an automobile accident, caused Judge James L. Allen to forfeit his $5000 bond, and issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

Johnson was accused with Mrs. Alice Dalton Converse, Pallister, of Santa Ana, in connection with a collision between a truck and an automobile occupied by William Maloney, on Ocean avenue, near Huntington Beach, March 14. The crash resulted fatally for Maloney.

Mrs. Pallister was in court today. Attorney Harry C. Westover was appointed to defend her, and her answer to the charge was scheduled late today. Under her former name of Mrs. Alice Dalton Converse, she served three months in jail last autumn for drunk driving.

Malcolm Nelson, 22, of Placentia, who pleaded guilty to burglary of the C. Beropse home near Placentia March 4, was granted probation for three years, on condition that he serve three months in the county jail, after which he will be paroled to custody of C. J. Mauerhan, Anaheim rancher.

A scheduled probation hearing was scheduled late today for Nelson and Patrick Ryan, who had pleaded guilty to burglary of the Rudolph Wetzel barn, near Placentia, on March 5. Harold Newton, third defendant implicated, was sentenced to the Preston School of Industry at Lone, last week, for his part in the burglary.

Arraigned on a charge of petty theft and prior conviction of petty theft, John Taylor, alias O'Boyle, admitted the prior conviction but pleaded not guilty to the present theft charge, involving the alleged taking of pipe fittings, valued at $10, from A. L. Oliver and Martin Spredding. His trial was set for April 3.

COUNTY SCOUT CAMPORAL SET FOR TOMORROW

Postponed twice before because of inclement weather, the Orange County Boy Scout Camporal will be staged tomorrow in Fullerton at the high school athletic field. It was announced today by Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

The camping event will be started at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Scouts meet at Commonwealth park to march in a body to the scene of the camporal. Events will continue throughout Saturday afternoon and the finale will be on Sunday morning.

Ribbons will be awarded to patrols winning high honors in the camping events to be staged, which include fire building, cooking, setting up tents and camp and other outdoor stunts.

The camporal is part of a training program for competition in the national camporal to be held in Washington, D. C., later in the year. More than 300 boys are expected to take part in the event tomorrow.

A court of honor in which more than 50 Scouts will be given advancements and awards will be held in connection with the county-wide camporal. The boys will camp out all night and will go to church Sunday morning.

Robert O'Connor, 30, charged with robbery, and Andrew Frechette, 24, charged with forgery, were brought from Los Angeles and lodged in the county jail by Frank Bessier, deputy U. S. Marshal yesterday.

Richard A. Harris, 23, was charged with reckless driving yesterday when brought to the county jail by Constable William Tremaine of Brea.

Mrs. C. P. Laxton of 214 East Seventeenth street reported the theft of a radiator cap from her car last night as it was parked on Sycamore street near Salvation Army hall.

LEAGUE SENDS QUESTIONS ON SCHOOL BOARD

The Civic League released another questionnaire this morning, following closely on the one that was sent to the candidates for the city council yesterday. This one is directed to candidates for the board of education and is intended to clarify the position of the aspirants in regard to matters of policy and administration, according to Thos. W. Hudspeth, secretary of the Civic League.

"There seems to be a growing conviction that the schools should be used for their education and enlightenment," he said. "Resentment has been aroused during the past year by efforts that have been made to exclude the taxpayers from holding meetings in the schools. The amount involved in the tariff of charges said to be not prohibitive, but the principle of the thing is a matter of public interest and concern. The political veterans have recently announced a ticket including a majority of the members of the old board, and it is the opinion of the League that the people are entitled to know just how the candidates stand," Hudspeth said.

In his letter to the candidates enclosing copy of the questionnaire, Hudspeth said to candidates now on the board "on several of these questions your record constitutes your answer, so you may disregard such of the questions as may appear to be answered in that way," he said. Following is the questionnaire:

"The people of Santa Ana desire to know of the candidates for the Board of Education:

"1. Will you if elected vote to forbid groups of citizens to use the school house or rooms therein when it is discretionary with the board, without charge when it is legal to do so?

"2. Will you use your position to obtain a profit for yourself directly or indirectly either secretly or openly?

"3. Will you use your influence or vote to place any person on the payroll for political, social, family or financial reasons, or for any reason except fitness for the position and the good of the service?

"4. Will you use your position or action attempt to override the rule of the majority of the board and seek by influence or suggestion to nullify such rule?

"5. Will you hold either discussions or voting on school matters in private and secretly from the public?

"6. Will you vote to close the school rooms and school facilities to points of view or presentation of matters you do not agree with if such presentation is legal?

"7. Will you forbid the presentation of only one side of controverted questions of public interest in the schools if both sides may be presented legally?

"8. Would you be adverse to pleading your utmost efforts toward securing employment for Santa Ana residents on all projects or contracts over which the board has jurisdiction or influence and to give preference to materials or supplies provided by Santa Ana workmen and merchants?

"Failure to answer any of the above questions must be taken as a 'yes' vote in each case."

ARBITRATION HELD GREATEST NEED OF WORLD

Human nature is such that international conflict is inevitable; it must be met either by war or arbitration, declared Captain Paul Perigold, of U. C. L. A., delivering his second lecture of the adult education lecture course at Willard auditorium last night.

Arbitration through diplomacy has failed, he added, so that the only alternative to war is arbitration through an international institution, such as the World Court or League of Nations.

If Americans do not like the World Court or League of Nations, they should foster and support some other form of international cooperation, for the sanction of America and the other world powers is necessary for solution of any serious world problem. And unless it has the support of all the strong powers, any international agency is helpless.

Meanwhile, said Captain Perigold, it would be absurd, suicidal, to talk of disarmament.

The first duty of any nation is to secure peace at home, but the close interrelation of affairs between nations make international cooperation necessary to achieve peace at home, he contended.

German Move Known

Hitler's dramatic announcements of the last few days reveal nothing new to those close to the European situation, said the speaker. Germany, he said, has been rearming for two years, as France and other nations were aware. Hitler tried to keep his preparations secret, and was able to do so, with respect to guns and ammunition, but when it came to airplanes and battleships he had to come out in the open.

Besides, said Captain Perigold, any dictator must keep staging dramatic displays, in order to keep up the mob psychology and maintain interest of the people in him. Continuation of land, sea and air preparedness policies create a serious problem, but there is no probability of war within several years, because of financial considerations, in the opinion of the lecturer.

"While some may claim that Germany was no more responsible for the war than the allied countries, nevertheless it cannot be disputed that Germany precipitated the war; and throughout the war, it was difficult to keep up the spirit of the allied soldiers because of their inferior equipment. Germany had been making ready for years."

He emphasized that there is a difference between Germany of the war establishment and the Germans of the cultural world. The war leaders of Germany do not truly represent the German people, he asserted, adding that it is the world's responsibility to make it possible for Germany to be what its people would have it be.

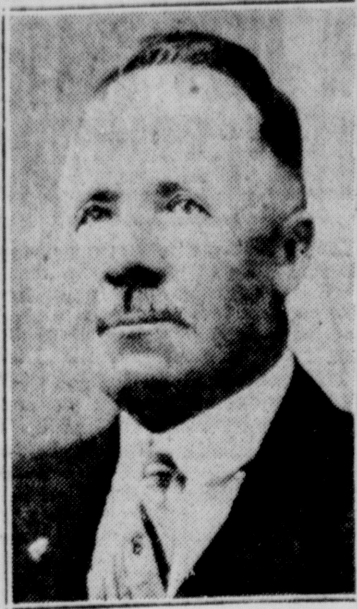

Refers To Treaty

Referring to his own association in war activities with President Woodrow Wilson, Captain Perigold denied that the treaty of Versailles was unjust to Germany, but claimed that, as war treaties go, it was generous, and largely because of the influence of President Wilson. Moreover, he said, concessions have since been made to Germany not required by the treaty, such as early withdrawal of the army of occupation, and Hoover's moratorium on Germany's debt payments, which Germany claimed she was unable to meet, although spending millions for rearming.

There is, he said, a mistaken impression that the treaty granted equality of arms to Germany. It restricted such equality to a system of security. It would be suicide for France or England to grant arms equality to Germany, unless she guaranteed not to use her arms in aggression. If Germany had a free hand in armament she would be the strongest power in Europe, because of her strategic position. Captain Perigold will lecture again on next Thursday evening.

FINE RECORD

John Osterman, below, ends a period of 35 years as school trustee today as he resigns from the Tustin school board. He was honored by school officials last night.

Continuous Show For "Sequoia" To Be On Tomorrow

The great outdoor drama which reveals amazing secrets of nature, "Sequoia," will be shown at continuous performances starting at 1 p. m. tomorrow at the West Coast theater, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain. The special continuous performance are for the benefit of out of town shoppers.

Manager Fountain recommended the entire bill as being most excellent, clean and wholesome entertainment for the entire family. Nearly two years in the making among the wilds of Sequoia National Park, "Sequoia" deals with a friendship between a deer and mountain lion, two of nature's most deadly enemies. Many unusual scenes of the picture most suitable for family entertainment. Jean Parker and Russel Hardie provide a human theme to the plot as two young people who find love amid the breath-taking beauty of the park.

Second feature on the bill is "Car 99," a clean and adventurous story based on the true incidents in the exciting experiences of the famous Michigan state police. Fred MacMurray and Ann Sheridan have the leading roles. A Pop-Eye cartoon and World News events completes the program.

JOHN OSTERMAN ENDS 35 YEARS IN SCHOOL POST

John Osterman, for the past 12 years president of the Tustin Union High school board of trustees, resigns today, completing a period of 35 years as trustee of various high school districts in the county. Osterman, who will be 63 this year, first was named a board member at the Trabuco High school district in 1898, where he served for many years. He later moved to El Toro, where he served on the district board, and 14 years ago moved to Tustin. He has been a resident of Orange county for the past 45 years.

"It gives me a feeling of great satisfaction to look back over the period of my service," he said today. "To see youngsters that you have helped in the past grow into fine useful citizens is the finest thing I can think of. I at least feel I have done my bit to help my home county."

The retiring trustee was the honoree at a surprise party given for him last night at the home of Mrs. Elsie Wingood Daly, 1811 North Bush street, members of the Tustin school board and teachers of the high school. A gold watch was presented to him as a testimonial of appreciation, by J. W. Means, principal of the Tustin Union High school.

He expressed himself today as sorry to discontinue his service, but said he felt it was time to make way for younger men.

'JACKETS TRIM POETS

FULLERTON, March 29.—With Norman Boisseranc pitching four innings of no-hit, no-run baseball, Art Nunn's Fullerton Yellowjackets defeated the Whittier college varsity nine, 12 to 8, in a wild diamond exhibition. While Boisseranc held the poets hitless, the collegians in turn jumped on Nunn's Fullerton Yellowjackets, which coupled with Fullerton's lax play permitted them to score often during the latter part of the game.

Doctors Urge a New Laxative Deal for Children!

Deplore the Giving of Children Laxatives More Suited to Adults!

This thing of giving children adults' laxatives is all wrong, say doctors. They warn it may lead to trouble. A child is a child, we must keep in mind, and what may be perfectly suitable to a grown person may be entirely too strong for a child. It's safe to say that almost any laxative that causes a child pain or discomfort is too drastic for him.

Reducing the dose doesn't necessarily make a laxative safe for a child. What a child needs is expressly a laxative made for him, a children's laxative! This is common sense. It is safety for the child.

Takes Into Account the Delicacy of a Child's Organs

California Syrup of Figs is preeminently a children's laxative. It's prepared especially for children. It takes into account the delicacy of their organs and their particular needs.

California Syrup of Figs is wholly vegetable, the first requirement in a children's laxative. It contains no chemicals. It is made of elixir of senna and the syrup of California figs.

Senna, as you know, is a plant leaf of natural laxative properties and harmless. Fig Syrup, as you are also aware, is a delicious and wholesome product. The two—senna and fig syrup—combine to make California Syrup of Figs a splendid laxative preparation for children. California Syrup of Figs works gently, but thoroughly. It induces a complete and easy bowel movement without discomfort on the part of the child. It causes no griping or cramps and does not leave the child weakened. So smoothly does it work, in fact, that a child scarcely realizes he has taken a laxative. That's the action you want, Mother—thorough, but easy!

Non-Habit Forming

California Syrup of Figs is absolutely non-habit forming, another vital consideration in the case of a child's laxative. You can give it whenever needed without fear of its becoming a necessity.

California Syrup of Figs is also pleasant to take. Children actually enjoy it. You don't have a battle on your hands every time you want to give it to your child.

For years California Syrup of Figs has been recommended for children by physicians. They declare it a laxative to be given children from the age of infancy to fifteen. Let it be the laxative you give your child, Mother, and know that you have the medical profession on your side.

All drug stores sell California Syrup of Figs. The package or the price isn't fancy, but the product's right, and that's what counts! Get a bottle today and see how truly it proves itself the children's laxative. Be sure to ask for it by the full name—California Syrup of Figs.

CITIES LEAGUE GIVES RECOMMENDATIONS ON CURRENT LEGISLATION

A review of legislative proposals now being considered by the state legislature at Sacramento featured the monthly meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities held last night following a dinner at the Women's clubhouse in Orange.

The bills were grouped under three heads, those sponsored by the state League of Municipalities, those opposed by the state League, and those sponsored by others but favored by the state League.

Ray Overacker, city attorney of Huntington Beach, reported briefly on measures sponsored by the League as follows:

Gas tax measures giving fair division of funds to cities.
Limiting municipal liability to $5000 for any one death, $10,000 for any one accident and $1000 for property damage; and requiring written report within 10 days to eliminate "damages racket."

Senate Bill 631, permitting cities to repair damaged sidewalks or streets if property owner fails to do so and charge to property; places responsibility for defects upon property owner.

Assembly Bill 283, changing municipal elections from second Monday to second Tuesday to conform with state elections.

A. B. 286 providing registration up to 40 days of elections.

A. B. 490, permitting absent ballots in special elections.

A. B. 284, providing that all recall petitions must be signed in presence of the city clerk.

Permitting cities to contract with county for public health service and requiring county to perform this service at cost.

Past Matrons Of Star Entertained

GARDEN GROVE, March 29.—Mrs. Emma Kearns, assisted by Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin of Buena Park, entertained the 1934 matrons of the O.E.S. of the 56th and 57th districts with a 1:30 o'clock luncheon at her home on Magnolia road.

A two-course luncheon was served at one long table decorated with wild flowers. Following the luncheon a social afternoon was enjoyed.

Those present were Stella Schultz of Ami Tai chapter, Fullerton, sponsor; Mae L. Henry of Garden Grove, and Myrtle Clayton of Brea, junior past deputy grand matrons of the 56th and 57th districts; Nell Neighbour, Hermosa chapter; Erma Folger, Santa Ana chapter; Zena Folger, Orange; Hazel Bishop of Laguna Beach; Jessie Todd, Huntington Beach; Edna Kobansky of Norwalk; Alice Pierce of Artesia; Yvonne Akerman of Anaheim; Katherine Dohman of La Habra; Beatrice Knisley of Yorba Linda and the hostesses.

Upon motion of Mann, and after an explanation of the situation by George Raymer and Elmer Guy, the latter city attorney of Brea, the league voted to send Raymer and Albert Launer, city attorney of Fullerton and secretary of the county League, to watch developments at a hearing in Los Angeles next Tuesday by which the city of Los Angeles is seeking lower telephone rates and which, if granted, might result in higher rates in adjacent cities, including Orange county.

Mayor L. A. Hogue of Brea, president, presided at the meeting, and announced the next meeting on April 25 will be held in Placentia. Delegates were welcomed to the meeting by Mayor C. J. Hessel of Orange.

Raymer made a brief report upon the cities' SERA project, saving he expected completion of the work in another month.

Charles Pearson was introduced as a new city councilman at Anaheim.

CITRUS MEN TO DISCUSS 'COSTS OF PRODUCTION

Eighty-five citrus growers of Orange county, cooperating with the farm advisor's office, will review the past season's records of expense and income at a special meeting tonight at the Anaheim High school cafeteria, it was announced today.

The conference is an annual get-together of the growers who are studying their detailed cost records for the purpose of analyzing their farm business and putting it on a more efficient basis. Since the study was started nine years ago, changes have been made in irrigation practice, cultivation cost, pest control methods and the use of fertilizer.

In watching the trend of his production costs and returns, the grower has been able to make effective adjustments in his orchard operations, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, that have resulted in more economical management and better net returns.

The 1934 cost summaries have just been completed by Wahlberg's office and will be distributed to the cooperators at the meeting tonight.

Any grower interested in a discussion of the operating costs of citrus properties is invited to attend the meeting. Discussion will start at 7:30 p. m. following a dinner at 6:30 o'clock. The discussion will cover both oranges and lemons.

A camera and X-ray combination is now lowered into the stomach of a patient suffering from stomach ulcers to determine the location of the sores.

GLASSES
Some of those sharp-sighted Wall Street seers could use some new glasses. As they always see it, the only business in this country is making steel and the other durable goods.
Statistics of these industries are stressed so much that you rarely see any others played up or adequately considered. Consequently, when steel started slipping a few weeks ago, the stock market went down with it, and the general impression is broadcast that the whole national spring business has gone down.

If you look at a balanced chart of business statistics, you can see, in any glasses, that such a viewpoint is slightly out of focus.
RANGE
The government's private chart of business shows that factory employment, wages, expenditures and department store sales have shown a constant extra-normal improvement in the past three months. Even building contracts have improved ineffectually and prices have remained stable.

The only decline has been in industrial production, and this is due to the decline in steel, more than anything else.
If you average up all these factors, you will find the January index of business, seasonally adjusted, about 89.4 per cent of normal (1923-24 average 100) and March 78.
This could hardly be called going backward.

DIAGNOSIS
It does not mean that the existing business situation would justify such a low forecast for a year. Essentially we are today just about at the level of March, last year. The prospects for the next few months are not inspiring, in view of the huge in production at the turn of the year. This bulge will undoubtedly be taken out of the spring figures and may force a continued surpluse in production generally.

But it does mean that the averaged troubles of steel, machinery, transportation, equipment, lumber, metals, glass, brick, auto, have obscured the fairly good averaged encumbrances of textiles, tobacco, leather, shoes, food, paper, chemicals, rubber.

Employment in the first group averaged only 6.8 per cent of normal in the official February figures, while employment in the second group was 8.1. In other words, the non-durables are within 6 per cent of the employment during 1923-24.

CHART
Total can figure out the general layout for yourself from the following monthly figures. The price index is based on 1925 as 100, but all the others are based on 1913-14. All except payroll and price index are actual for seasonal variations, which means that each figure is the actual estimated percentage of normal for the times stated.

STATE HISTORY OUTLINED FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

FULLERTON, March 29.—Interesting persons who have adventured in the past and who are adventuring in the present in the making of California history were discussed by Mrs. Owen Richelleu at the Fullerton Woman's club meeting Thursday night.

The group voiced approval of a suggestion of Mrs. S. W. McCulloch, international interest chairman, to send to Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, national federation president, an endorsement of the federation interest in efforts to get the United States to join the World Court. Prior to her suggestion, Mrs. McCulloch reported on a lecture given by Dr. Fredrick Libby of the National Council for the Prevention of War Tuesday.

Mrs. Richelleu told briefly of the adventures of historic characters like Porthos and Father Serra, of the development of the first railroads, and brought to attention of her hearers a little known fact concerning the hurried building of a dam in 1905 when the Colorado river broke bounds and except for that dam would have likely destroyed the Imperial valley. To save the valley, the president had no time to wait for approval of congress, and appropriation of funds. It was at that time that the Salton sea was formed, she said.

The president, Mrs. C. W. O'Flynn, presided. The meeting was at the home of Miss Gertrude DeGelder and Mrs. George W. Sherwood and Mrs. Bertha Lisher were assisting hostesses. Mrs. S. W. Douglas presented wild flowers collected by her niece, Miss Verla Wyatt in the desert, and Miss Lilian Rivers named the flowers and read poems about them.

Mrs. Lloyd Fuller, chairman of conservation, announced a meeting of club members at the Ross Gardens in Newport Beach April 12.

COLLEGE STUDENTS TO PRESENT PLAY

FULLERTON, March 29.—Fullerton District Junior college is planning to enter a group of plays in the Pasadena Community Theater school contest April 9, when they will present a group of students in "The Romancers," a whimsical one-act play by Rostand.

Two Fullerton students now are at the playhouse, having won scholarships through presentation of the plays in former years. Two years ago the cast, under the direction of Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield, won the first prize. Melbourne Ford was awarded a scholarship after that. Last summer the group presented a play in a tryout, and in consequence Elmer Wagner, of Placentia, won a scholarship.

The cast will present a public performance of the short play at the Fullerton Union High school auditorium April 6 free to the public, included in the cast are Bob Yeager, Nita Andrus, Cliff Jarrett, John Shay and Gene Elders.

80% OF YOUR DRIVING IS "STOP-AND-GO"

THE average motorist runs up 80% of his mileage in short, "around town" trips... the costliest kind of driving.

To save money you need three kinds of power in gasoline... power to start with a minimum of choking, power to accelerate without knocking, power to run without waste.

Super-Shell, America's first truly balanced gasoline, gives you all three. Saves gasoline every hour you drive for extra mileage.

Eberhard was in charge of luncheon preparations. The luncheon program was presented by Mrs. Archibald Edwards, violinist and soloist.

L. A. DETECTIVE HITS PROPOSED ALCO MEASURE

FULLERTON, March 29.—"The greatest case we work on in the laboratories for solving crime is the case that proves a man accused of a crime is innocent." Frank Gompert, chief of the research department of criminal investigation for the sheriff's office of Los Angeles, declared in a talk at the Charles Ruby forum Thursday night.

The speaker, in answer to a question said the Alco bill if passed would defeat its purpose, declaring that it is impossible to disarm criminals.

"Criminals will seldom attack a man who is armed, so that the bill will disarm citizens rather than criminals," he said. "We have been trying to disarm criminals to keep them from peddling dope, and have passed legislation on those things, but today more dope is being peddled than ever. Criminals do not observe laws."

In the course of his talk he told of the development of the filing systems; of the laboratories that accumulate, identify and classify evidence; of the creating of standards on which to work.

The means of discovering whether a man was a suicide or was murdered by gun wound was described. He told of the action of gasses from a gun, and how they burned the skin to such an extent that for hours afterward the skin will react to tests that show whether a hand held a gun. He gave detailed accounts of means of identifying bodies by hair analysis.

SON IS BORN

FULLERTON, March 29.—The Rev. and Mrs. D. Rand Pierce (Emma Tousey Pierce) are parents of a son, born March 27 at the Cottage hospital. The baby has been named David Randall.

World-Wide News Events Told In Pictures

Invention Curbs Wild Mustard in Wheat Fields

A serious attack upon the weed enemy of Pacific Coast grain growers—wild mustard—now is possible through a device invented by O. E. French, University of California agricultural experimental station. Dilute sulphuric acid kills mustard without injuring the grain, but because of its corrosive effect upon metal, spraying has not been feasible. French's machine, using an injector, mixes acid and water in a spray beyond the pumps and tanks, where it does not come in contact with the machine. Tests show mustard destruction without injury to the grain.

Cofferdams to Harness Columbia at Grand Coulee

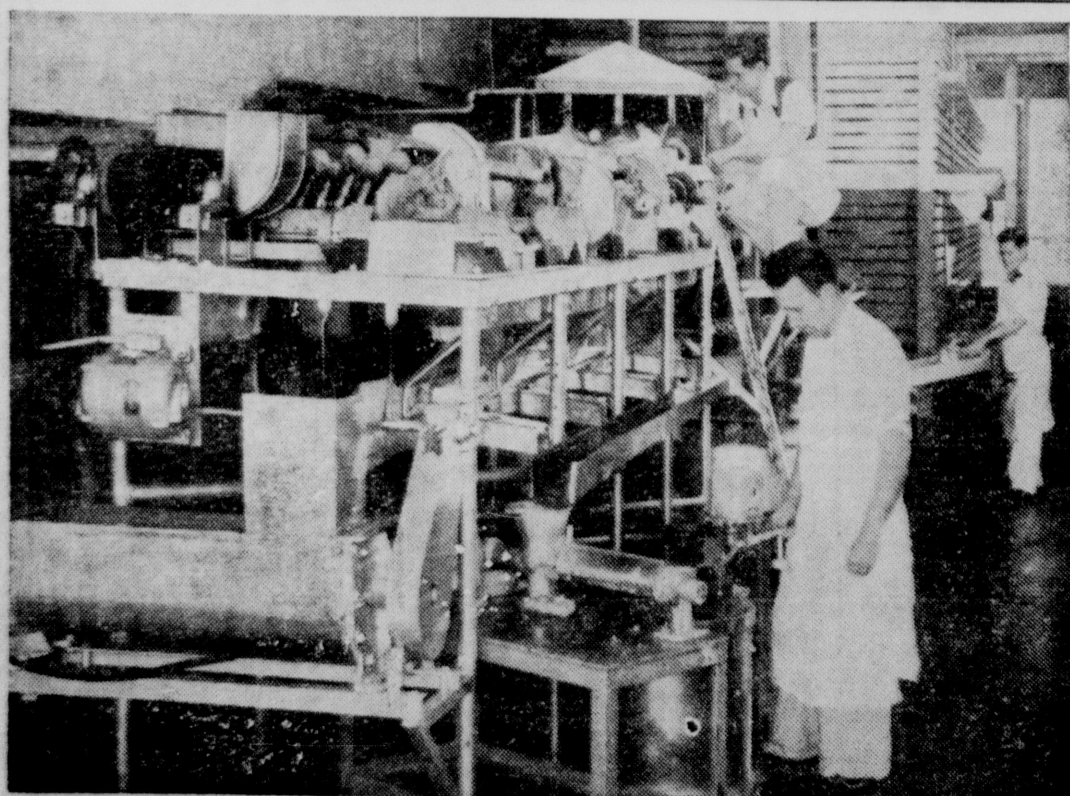

Man is waging a race against Mother Nature at Grand Coulee, Wash., to get the above cofferdam into place before melting snows raise the mighty Columbia River to unmanageable heights. This is the first of a series of cofferdams which will harness the river while excavations are being dug for the Grand Coulee Dam.

AUTO WORKERS' VOTE NEARS 100,000 MARK

As these Chevrolet workers at Flint, Mich., cast their ballots for representatives on the bargaining agency, the total vote in the industry neared 100,000, a record for industrial elections in the U. S. The line of workers at the right, just relieved from duty to vote, is shown signing the poll books, which remain the property of the federal board conducting the elections. At left an assembly line worker turns his folded ballot over to an election official, who places it in the locked and sealed ballot box which also remains the board's property.

Surplus Citrus Fruit Disposal Requires Specially Designed Machines For Handling

Profitable disposal of surplus citrus fruit has always been a problem to the producer. Man's inventive genius has been constantly directed towards its solution. As a result the preparation of beverages made from the juice of California oranges is increasing the consumption of oranges. Last year the growers received more than $325,000 from the independent citrus products manufacturers. Among other products made from citrus fruit were flavors, concentrate, pectin and oils. Much special machinery has been developed for processing purposes. The above picture shows fruit being carried from the cutting and washing and brushing process, to the cutting and reaming devices. All of this machinery had to be individually built for these particular purposes. Stainless steel and bronze is used to resist acid action.

Film Frees Her From Drudgery

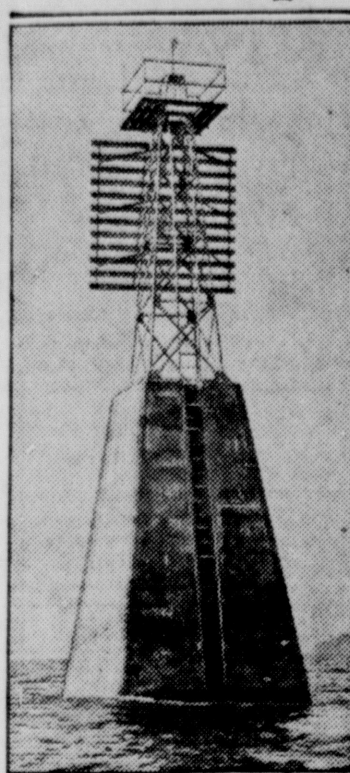

Every once in a while a true Cinderella tale pops up in Hollywood, and here's one. It's the story of 16-year-old Anne Shirley, above, who has made such phenomenal success of three recent pictures that she has been signed to a contract that will relieve her and her mother from the housework at which they have toiled for years.

The public eye has been dazzled by a constant parade of Florida beach beauties this winter, and now comes the queen of them all—Jessie Smith, 18, dark-haired, dark-eyed, with a few piquant freckles across her nose—bearing the trophy won in competition with 255 other girls at the Miami Biltmore Country club.

PWA Spending Hits Limit—at U. S. Boundaries

Another Borah Slaps at NRA

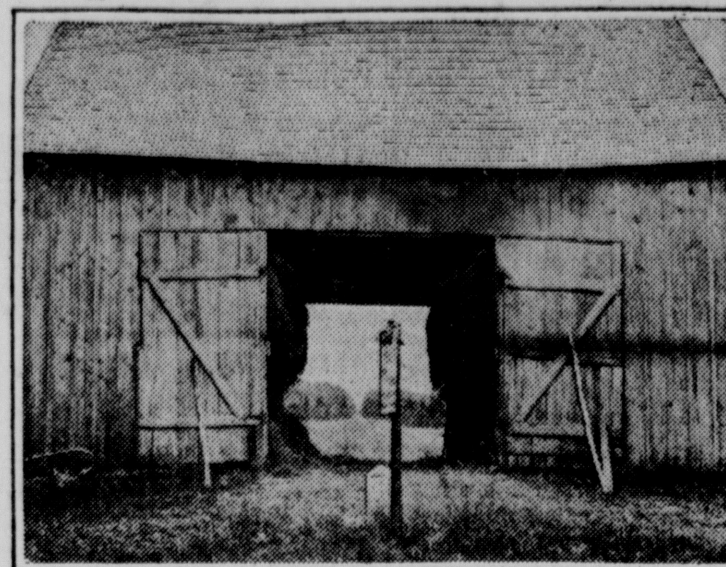

Another Borah stepped into the national recovery fight with the ruling in New Orleans federal court by Judge Wayne G. Barred, Bright

Herbert Nicolls, 15, under life sentence in the Washington Penitentiary, has set a high scholarship record. When he entered three years ago, he started as a sixth grader. Now he has finished the freshman high school class with high marks. The prison librarian administers lessons prepared by the Walls Walls schools.

There are boundaries to spending PWA funds, despite critics—the Canadian and Mexican boundaries. These pictures along the Canadian border prove it. Left is a range mark tower at Boundary Bay, Wash., reared with PWA money by the U. S. section of the International Boundary Commission, to aid in enforcing fishing, customs, and immigration laws. Center is a barn that a survey proved is in both the U. S. and Canada, the line running directly through the opening to the marker. At right is a strip cleared of timber, dividing New Brunswick and Maine.

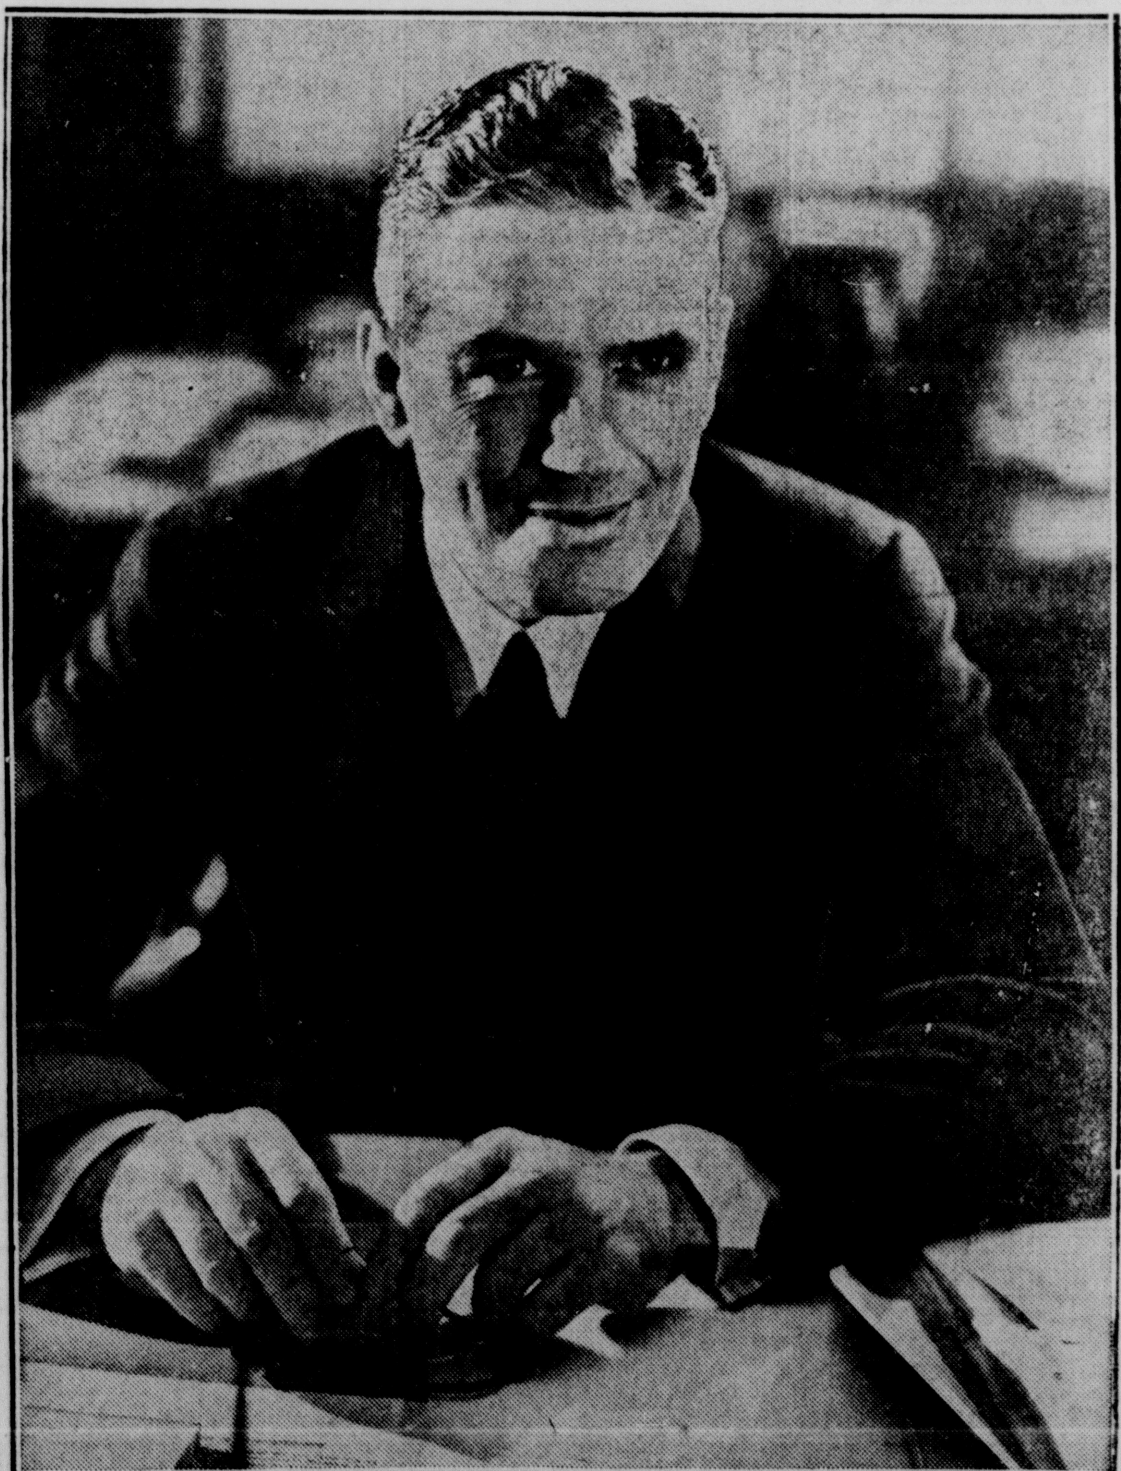

5000 Minnesota Jobless Put Legislators 'on Spot'

In one of the most formidable demonstrations staged against state lawmakers this winter, a howling mob of 5000 relief seekers stormed the Minnesota capitol at St. Paul, forced a House rollooff and shouted threats against the legislators if they failed to pass unemployment, old age, and social security insurance bills. Part of the throng in the menacing demonstration is shown here, jamming the steps of the statehouse.

Tugwell, the Man of Glamour—and of Many Foes

Handsome of all the brain trusters, his glamour the greater because of the aura of mystery hung about him, Rexford Guy Tugwell now fades into the New Deal background, now blazes comet-like across the foreground, a figure of might to the liberals, a dangerous radical to the conservatives, who fight unceasingly to unseat him. Far from the scene of battle in the recent AAA violent overturn, the undersecretary of agriculture, shown here in a striking Margaret Bourke-White portrait, rushed back to Washington by plane. Plunging into the fray, he emerged again as a power in AAA councils.

Work Under Way On New County Park At Beach

SMALL ISLAND TO BE CREATED IN UPPER BAY

NEWPORT BEACH, March 29.—A crew of 46 men from the Orange county SERA started work this morning on Orange county's newest park, to be located just north of the Coast highway in the upper Newport bay section. The new park will have a frontage on the Coast highway and is adjacent to Coney island.

Dredging material will be utilized in filling in the property, which is now marsh land. A dike will be thrown up as the first step in the improvement campaign. Landscaping and beautification of the tract will follow. A total of 20,100 man hours of labor has been assigned to the park job by SERA headquarters. Cost of the project will be approximately $10,000.

It is planned to construct a horseshoe dike, with Coney island between the points of the dike, which will extend into the bay from the Coast highway shore line. A small island will be constructed in the center of the artificial lagoon to be created, and the entire water area dredged out to provide a swimming and wading pool. It is planned to plant the dike with flowers and trees.

Says Financiers, Backers Of Long Approve Fascism

LA HABRA, March 29.—"There are two elements in America which are hoping for the inauguration of a Fascist regime," said Dean W. T. Boyce, of the Fullerton Union High school, when he spoke at the La Habra Kiwanis club meeting this week. "One comprises the big financiers, who see in such an outcome a way to stop what they term the reckless expenditures of the administration. The other group comprises the followers of that master egoist, Huey Long, who are deluded into the belief that under his leadership the wealth of the country would be divided up."

The speaker further said he believed that if the relief program was not a success and the depression lasted on into the 1936 election, someone like Long would be likely to be elected, and the country would find itself under a dictatorship. The nation is in a precarious condition today, he said.

In discussing the financial status of the country, he said that the United States is in much better condition than other large nations of the world.

John Crossley, principal, called attention of visitors to the enlarged curriculum, which this year, besides the new school, includes not only academic courses, but a full commercial course and domestic arts and shop work. Plans are under way to add a radio department. The board of education has agreed to adopt the Smith-Hughes plan of agricultural work, which, according to Crossley, is peculiarly adapted to the community.

"Today's Problems" is a course that is being adopted to fill a half semester period for those desiring it, something of a continuation of the required course in civics, according to the principal. The work was under the direction of Herbert Hooper, Margaret Goodchild, Ruth Miller, Helene Keshner, who directs dramatics; George Woolsey and Red Rupp, in charge of music, and Clarence Bishop, physical education, and Crossley.

DRIVER CLEARED IN FATAL MESA CRASH

COSTA MESA, March 29.—M. Ferdinandusse of Newport Beach was exonerated of blame for an automobile accident in which Ukichi Hirata, a Japanese farmer of Costa Mesa, received fatal injuries Monday, at an inquest, conducted by Coroner Earl Abbe, at the Dixon Funeral home yesterday. Hirata received injuries that caused his death in a Santa Ana hospital a few hours after the accident. Negligence on the part of the deceased was given as the cause of the accident.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Hirata, 56. The Rev. J. Yukawa, pastor of the Hongwanji Buddhist temple of Los Angeles, presided. Interment was made at Westminster Memorial park beside his wife who passed away two years ago. The funeral was held from the Dixon Funeral home.

He leaves four children, two little girls, Sitruke and Yuribie, and two sons, Shingo and Misuro.

GARDEN GROVE, March 29.—Members of the Young Woman's Foreign Missionary society met in the Methodist Episcopal church this week for a 5:30 o'clock dinner served on tables decorated in an Easter motif.

Following dinner the business session was presided over by Miss Roxana Dales, vice president. Six of the girls are planning to attend. After devotions led by Miss Marjorie Chaffee a talk on "Japanese Literature" was given by Mrs. Allen Goddard.

The remainder of the time was spent making scrap books, which will be sent to Miss Agnes Dunn, missionary nurse in India. CHINESE BARITONE SINGS

WINTERSTOWN, March 29.—A special musical program is planned Sunday evening at the Winterville Methodist church, with Richard Low, Chinese baritone, of Long Beach, as the soloist. The evening sermon topic will be "Revealing God's Love." The morning sermon topic of the pastor, the Rev. Joe Thompson, will be "Having the Faith of Christ Jesus and Using It."

BREA SPEAKER SAYS GREED OF MEN WAR CAUSE

BREA, March 29.—Several members of Brea post No. 181 of the American Legion, were present at the forum held in the Congregational church, this week and heard Fred Smith, of Anaheim, define the Legion's plan for taking the profits out of war. Smith, a former captain under General Pershing, was introduced by J. R. Phillips. He expressed the belief that few, if any, men who had active duty in the World War had any desire to see another conflict of arms.

He declared the Legion welcomed the support of the churches or any other organizations in putting over their program and said the Legion preferred not to take the lead if other leadership could be secured.

"War is a disease," he said, "and its germ is money. The greed of men and not the need of settling family squabbles in Europe was responsible for America entering a war in which she ought never to have had a part."

The plan for nationalizing the manufacturing of munitions was presented by the pastor, the Rev. D. E. Gaylord, who declared that he endorsed it because it seemed to go farther than any other plan. His objection to government management of munition plants only during a period of emergency was based upon the belief that much of the mischief is already done by that time. Nationalizing of the industry, he believed, would remove from America the stigma which now attaches to its manufacturers' traffic in arms in other countries.

"It is just as important," he said, "that the blood of the youth of other lands be spared as that the blood of American youth be spared."

Mayor L. A. Hogue presided as chairman of the meeting. Another forum, presenting national current affairs, will be held on April 10, in connection with the fellowship dinner.

The officers were nominated by a special committee consisting of Mrs. Helen Elder, Miss Gretha Clarke, Mrs. Nettie Bryan, Miss Marguerite Way and Miss Catherine Gorton.

It was tentatively decided to hold the annual dinner dance of the club on May 10, and Miss Breger announced she would appoint a committee to make arrangements for the affair. A vote of thanks was given the retiring officers and directors.

First and second prizes in the elementary school division were awarded to Ruth McGovern and Virginia Ganahl, and honorable mention was given Clifton Brooks and Jeanne Cabania. Mrs. Norton reported that three families are receiving free milk daily from the unit. April being Child Welfare month, plans are under way for a benefit card party, proceeds from which will go to the milk fund. The date for the party was set for April 24.

MARANVILLE'S 'COMEBACK' HEROIC BUT FUTILE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28.—The unusual feature of the game between the Boston Braves and the St. Petersburg team, which was played here in the fact that, outside of four or five young men stumbling around on the field, there are no rookies in camp.

This indicates that Manager Bill McKelvie is going to stand pat more or less on his 1934 front. This is not a matter of choice; it simply is a necessity brought on by the financial plight of the Braves, which has resulted in the team's home grounds going to the dogs last winter.

With this situation evident, one hazards a guess that the loyal Seaboard fans are going to be a disappointed lot by mid-July. They hope built up with the addition of Ruth, it is probable that those hopes will be rudely shattered because of the lack of youngsters in the lineup to add fight and pep to the team after the oldsters wilt in the hot summer sun.

Ruth's declaration that he'll play 100 games this year has provoked many a laugh among noted observers. They can't quite see the tottering Bambino, whose quaky limbs kept him on the bench most of last season, getting into that number of contests.

"Rabbit" Maranville's comeback, too, is highly problematical. The plucky little second sacker who is attempting a return after a broken leg forced him out of the game during spring training last year, is making a remarkable try to out Les Mallon from his old job.

The Braves have given up on the Rabbit. Talking with McKelvie, we observed him look at the little fellow limping around second base and remark:

"Poor fellow. He can't get off a dime."

Earl Painter, trainer of the Yankees, who also are quartered here, has been treating Maranville's leg. Here's what he has to say about it:

"I'll have the swelling and stiffness out of his ankle and foot before the club goes north, but I doubt that Maranville ever again will be fast enough to play major league baseball. The leg will be all right for all other purposes, but the Rabbit slowed up perceptibly in the closing weeks of 1933.

"A year's layoff would be handicapping enough to a player 43 years of age and, in my opinion, the injury hastened his finish as a big league performer."

The most promising of the few rookies who are in camp is Joe Cossack, the youngster obtained from Seattle in return for Dick Gyselman, Clarence Pickrel, and Dick Barrett. Twenty-three years old, the rookie is a flashy third baseman, and may out "Pinky" Whitney from the hot corner.

Another kid who may stick is Johnny (Ty-Ty) Tyler, an infielder, who pulled him off the active duty list, the youngster may get a chance to play along with Berger and Hal Lee in the garden.

With Harrisburg last year, Tyler hit .318.

A couple of other rookies who may get a chance to further display their wares are Bill Lewis and Elbert Fletcher. The former, a catcher, hit .313 for Rochester last year, and the latter, an infielder, played eight games for the Braves after coming up from Harrisburg, and tunked the turnip for .500.

Little change is expected in the pitching staff. Carrying the load will be Ben Cantwell, whose whip, a little sour last year, seems to be better than ever; Fred Frankhouse, Walter Betts, Ed Brandt, Leo Mangum, Phil Rhem, Bob Brown, and Bob Smith.

McKelvie is keeping his optics on two young hurlers and they may be carried along for a while for further observation. One is Jerry Grunwald, a St. Louis boy who was brought to the club last year when Jewel Ems was McKelvie's first assistant. The other is Mike Cash, from Webster, Mass., for whom Worcester was asking $10,000 before the club went smash. He is a southpaw with plenty of promise—and the Braves need a southpaw like ham needs

EXPERIMENT IN NEW TEACHING METHOD TRIED

That here in Santa Ana is being conducted one of the most advanced experiments in modern education is attested by the fact from schools all over the United States, it was learned today.

Principal H. G. Nelson of Lathrop Junior High school has just finished mailing copies of the new curriculum in answer to these inquiries, two of which came from the Hawaiian Islands.

The new features of the plan is what is known as "correlation." That is, all subjects taught in the school are related to one central subject. At Lathrop this central subject is "social studies." When a class in social studies is learning about the Revolutionary War period, for example, the English classes will write a composition about General Washington, the music classes will sing "Yankee Doodle" and "Star Spangled Banner" and the sewing classes will have colonial costumes.

All work is divided into "units," or large divisions of subjects each taking several weeks to complete. The aim of the plan, according to Nelson, is to tie up school work with the actual life experiences. It considers the educational process not as a matter of subjects, but as a matter of life. "In actual life we do not dissect the things we learn and pigeonhole them as arithmetic, history, or English," he said. "We learn things as they come, as part of our everyday experiences."

Being a new educational procedure, there are as yet no text books embodying it, and it has therefore been necessary for the school to work out its own courses and texts. Each teacher has contributed to this work with suggestions and study outlines. These were then put together by the departments and made into unit outlines covering all subjects.

Fall Down Stairs Disfigures Face

Blaine Cox, well known resident of Santa Ana, is nursing a disfigured face resulting from a head-over-heels fall down the stairs of a rooming house at 3161-2 North Birch street. Two black eyes, one lacerated nose, and a broken cheek bone constitute his injuries from the fall, which occurred recently. Cox was released yesterday afternoon from the hospital, where he had been taken for treatment.

Bishop I. D. Warner, D. D., below, of Portland, Oregon, will be in Santa Ana for a series of evangelistic sermons at a joint revival of United Brethren and Evangelical churches before Easter. The meetings start next Sunday.

TWO CHURCHES JOIN IN SERIES OF SERVICES

Pre-Easter evangelistic meetings will be held jointly by the United Brethren and Evangelical churches March 31 to April 14, according to announcement today. Services will be held every night at 7:30 o'clock except Monday, April 1, and Saturdays, at the First Evangelical church, North Main and Tenth streets, during the first week, while the services of the second week

'WAGON WHEELS' ON SCREEN AT STATE

Randolph Scott has the role of an Indian fighting frontier scout who wins the love of a widow and her child when he saves an entire caravan from death at the hands of the savages in "Wagon Wheels," a Zane Grey story, which comes to the screen of Walker's State theater today and tomorrow.

Supporting roles in the story, which details some of the historic adventures that beset the pioneers who took the first wagon train across the country to Oregon in 1844, are taken by Gail Patrick, Monte Blue and Raymond Hatton.

Other subjects on the program are a news reel; a chapter of "Young Eagles"; a color cartoon, "Peculiar Penguins"; and a Mickey McGuire comedy, "Mickey's Rescue."

The Kiddies club meets for its regular meeting at the matinee at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Continuous shows are scheduled on Saturday.

NEW PROGRAM TO AID SMALL FARMERS HERE

A survey now under way in Orange county is being made to place in operation a new state plan for the rehabilitation of owners of small farms. It was announced today by Terrence H. Halloran, Orange county SERRA director.

F. E. Carter, acting field agent for the division of California Rural Rehabilitation corporation, is in charge of the survey which is being made here.

The new program is designed to aid farm families which are destitute and in need of relief through no fault of their own but because of unemployment or failure of marketing systems and failure to obtain adequate credit from local lending agencies, Halloran said.

Persons having more than two and a half acres of producing land or more than 100 chickens are eligible for this plan, and at the same time are ineligible for SERRA work relief. A number of families have been separated from unemployment relief because they were not eligible under this ruling.

In the survey the state agent will contact each family, hoping to work out a marketing plan and arrange for loans and refinancing to help rehabilitate the farm families.

Play Planned For Christian Church On Sunday Night

ORANGE, March 29.—The Pilgrim players are to present a play, "The Rich Young Ruler," at the First Christian church Sunday at a service which is to begin at 7:30 p. m. There will be no sermon in connection with the service.

MODERN SCHOOL OF COOKERY TO START APRIL 3

The Santa Ana Register will present its great annual cooking school to the women of Santa Ana and Orange county on April 3, 4 and 5 in the American Legion hall on Birch between Third and Fourth streets. The classes in the modern school of gas cookery will be from 2 to 4 p. m. each day and will be under the direction of Lucille Martens, home economist for the Southern Counties Gas company.

Wide interest is expected to be evinced by women in the cooking school. Thousands of Orange county women have attended and profited from The Register cooking schools in the past. The Southern Counties Gas company is sharing honors with The Register in staging the school.

The J. C. Horton Furniture company will furnish the Wedgewood gas ranges which will be used in the cooking event. The Horton company, which has been in business here for 36 years, has been the agent for Wedgewood ranges ever since starting business here.

A beautiful model kitchen with all of the modern equipment which women want for their own kitchen will be a feature of the cooking school next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. The kitchen was built by the Southern Counties Gas company especially for the cooking school.

Besides possessing a natural inclination to combine foods, cook them properly and serve them attractively, Mrs. Martens has had many years of experience as a director of home service. This three-day modern school of gas cookery will endeavor to acquaint the housewife with new kitchen technique which has been brought about through insulated ovens, simmer burners, clock and oven heat controls on modern gas ranges, and the correct use of the gas refrigerator.

Wide variety features the menus which Mrs. Martens will demonstrate this year. During the class periods she will prepare and cook complete meals for specific occasions including holiday dinners, breakfasts, party meals, etc. She will make pies and cakes, demonstrate many other types of desserts and mix salads.

Many prizes will be given away to women who attend the cooking school. Women were urged to arrange their time early so that they will not miss the opportunity.

DRIVER GIVES SAFETY RULES FOR MOTORISTS

Twelve commandments for motorists were given today by Captain de Zita, formerly of the French Foreign Legion, who is in Santa Ana as an advocate of driving safety and will stage an exhibition of blindfold driving tomorrow afternoon and evening, starting from in front of the West Coast theater at 1:30 and 6:45 p. m.

The commandments are as follows:

1. Use courtesy and consideration for the right and privilege of others.
2. Keep your mind on your driving so you may anticipate any emergency, and above all—keep calm.
3. Keep your car under control at all times; make it obey you.
4. Obey all traffic and parking regulations. It will eliminate paying fines and jeopardizing lives.
5. Keep to right of road and comply with all markings on the road or street.
6. Signal your intentions when turning a corner or stopping. The motorist before you is not a mind reader.
7. Slow down at all intersections, crossing, schools, corners, and other danger zones. It will save your brakes and your nerves.
8. Never pass another car on a hill, curve, or railroad crossing; be extra careful when you pass a car to the right in cities.
9. Adapt your driving to road conditions, especially in bad weather.
10. Don't take your right-of-way too seriously. It may cost a life or two.
11. Give the pedestrian courtesy; you are one yourself at times.
12. Remember these rules, and help the policeman and traffic officers. Traffic laws were made for YOUR protection.

YOUTH STATES PROFITS ARE CAUSE OF WAR

Editor's Note: We can secure peace by taking the profits out of war, says Clinton Campbell, Santa Ana high school senior, in an address on "The Heroism of Peace," which is entered in the tri-county peace oratorical contest sponsored by the World Friendship movement, centered at Riverside with Frank Miller as one of the principal organizers.

Campbell will be heard in the finals of Orange county high school contestants the latter part of April, the winner of which will compete in the tri-county finals to be held at Riverside.

The thoughts of this young man are so provoking and so timely that we are pleased to present them herewith, in part, as follows:

By CLINTON CAMPBELL

We have a great task before us, the task of seeking and finding a solution for war, a task to establish peace on this earth as never before.

The world needs men and women with enough courage to live up to the strength of their convictions.

A vision is of little importance if there is no will behind the vision. Has it never occurred to you that peace is the outstanding principle of Christianity?

You know that the first peace organizations were directly associated with the Christian religion, yet how many pacifist organizations have tried Christianity as a solution? Not very many, and you know that the outlook for world peace is dark because this world hasn't accepted the doctrine of Jesus Christ. And no Christian pacifist of today need flatter himself that he has contributed any substantial originality to the religious case for peace.

You know that in the eyes of peace, the life of Christ is more heroic than all other causes combined, but if you who call yourselves Christian pacifists will not accept it for its great value, then we must turn to other ends.

Do you realize that the last war which was "to make the world safe for democracy" has resulted in dictatorship for two-thirds of mankind? Fascism, Nazism and Sovietism are today threatening our world-wide structures of liberty and democracy.

How many of you think that the solution for world peace lies in training the youth of the world for militaristic ends, in equality of armaments, in so-called "preparedness"? Preparedness! What is preparedness? A country which is considered prepared. What is it prepared for? I can tell you. It is prepared to go straight to hell by the way of the horrors of war, at the expense of the people and at whose profit? At the profit of 21,000 millionaires and billionaire bankers, shipbuilders, speculators, manufacturers and munition makers and all of these other scoundrels who make their money from pillaging the coffers of the country as the vampire sucks the blood of its victim. What did they do for you, for me? What do they care for us and the rest of humanity?

Why do we call them "patriots" when they furnish war at our expense? Why must we, as citizens of this country, which has its very foundations on everything that is just and right, allow these greedy impostors for the

WHERE SERA CLOTHING IS PRODUCED

A view of the SERA sewing production project, now located in the Fuller building in Santa Ana, where garments for men, women and children on relief rolls are being turned out in large quantities, is shown below. Located in the same building are the quilting and sheeting projects which manufacture bedding for families on relief.

SERA Production Projects Supply Clothing and Bedding for Needy

Feeding thousands of hungry mouths and giving shelter to families which are in desperate circumstances through no fault of their own is not the only job which the SERA is doing in Orange county, for the production units have managed in but a comparatively brief space of time to turn out the astounding number of 15,482 articles of clothing and bedding.

Here's the record which the production units have made under the direction of Fred P. Jayne, head of the professional, technical and women workers division of Orange county SERA in production figures: 3402 shirts, 1324 dresses, 382 children's garments, 794 child's sheets, pillow slips and quilts; 655 night gowns, 332 aprons, 893 diapers, 39 skirts, 238 neckties, 42 slips, 564 slips, 149 sweaters, 1157 sheets, 1530 pillow slips, 3729 towels and 100 bed pillows.

Affording an opportunity for the general public to see the quality of garments and other articles made in the SERA production projects, a colorful and interesting display has been arranged in the SERA building windows at Second and Broadway streets, Santa Ana.

The clothing and bedding has been distributed where the need is greatest. In spite of the fact that more than 15,000 articles have been turned out, the need still is great and the demand as yet cannot be filled, Jayne said.

The sewing project started with nine women last August and now 250 women are given work and at the same time being trained to sew and make attractive things. Sewing projects are located in the Fuller building in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Costa Mesa.

The quilting project, which is operated along with the sheeting project in the Fuller building, started in February with four persons working. Now there are 38. The sheeting project started in January with 10 women employed. The project now absorbs 20 women.

A total of 140 sewing machines.

MANAGER FOR WOMEN VOTERS PLAY-WRITING OPEN MEETING CONTEST NAMED TO CANDIDATES

With plans maturing for the presentation of a prize winning play in the one-act playwriting contest of Santa Ana Community Players, the association president, Harry Hanson, today appointed Mrs. Robert S. Wade as manager for the event to be held in Elwell clubhouse Thursday night, April 11.

This program must not be confused with the annual Southern California Tournament of One Act Plays at which the association will entertain little theater groups of the Southland later in the month. The latter event is the concluding feature on the major production program of the Players for the current year.

The One-Act Playwriting tournament was introduced last year and met with such enthusiasm on the part of local playwrights that it was repeated this year. Miss May Rose Borum, chairman, and members of her English department at Tustin Union High school, formed the judges making selection from the many manuscripts submitted.

The four winning plays were "A Sense of Humor" by Miss Eva Doyle; two plays by Arthur Collins, "Pact and Frances" and "A Garden in Samarkand," and

Two Hostesses Pay Courtesies To Bride-Elect

Two bridal showers of recent date came in compliment to Miss Lafern Schwenck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Schwenck, whose marriage to Charles Signorelli, of Los Angeles is anticipated as an event of this season.

The latest affair took place in the home of Mrs. William Ellison, South Sycamore street. Easter colors were evident in all decorations. Prizes in coddle were won by Miss Alfreda Forsberg and Miss Blanche Ivins, who held high and low scores.

Tables were appointed in lavender and green at the refreshment hour, when the hostess' daughter, Miss Dorothy Ellison, assisted her in serving. Miscellaneous shower packages for Miss Schwenck had been piled on a table centered with pastel-hued sweet peas.

Invited to share the event with Mrs. Ellison, her daughter, Miss Dorothy Ellison, and the honoree, Miss Schwenck, were Mesdames Harold Warner (Sherley Hoffmaster), Robert Haven, E. L. Prizes were wrapped in pink and white tissues and ribbons to conform to a motif carried out in other details.

Following the presentation of shower gifts to the bride-elect, refreshments in pink and white were served. Mrs. C. E. Schwenck assisted the hostess in serving.

Members and guests to the number of 35 of Northeast section First Presbyterian Aid society, shared the hospitality of Mrs. W. W. Herrington's home, 232 North Cleveland street, Orange, at their March session.

Many bright flowers were used in giving a spring-like atmosphere to the home, where Mrs. Guy Christian, section leader, conducted the business session. Mrs. F. L. Wilson was program chairman, and presented musical features with Alice DesLuzes as pianist, and Doris Asher as singer. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

South section members of First M. E. Aid society were entertained this week in the home of Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, 711 South Sycamore street, where the business meeting was conducted by the section leader, Mrs. Laura Leonard.

Mrs. J. C. Gardner was program chairman and gave several readings followed by piano solos by Miss Dorothy Osborne, a pupil of Miss Leonora Tompkins, and a reading by Mrs. Lou Allen.

EDITOR TELLS ROTARIANS OF SPORTS' VALUE

ORANGE, March 29.—The ability to think for himself and to work with others is developed in the athlete and this is the basic reason for sports in schools and colleges today, declared Bill Henry, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, in a talk given at the Orange Rotary club meeting Thursday at the American Legion clubhouse. Henry was introduced by Stewart N. White, coach at the Orange Union High school.

When it was proposed to house the athletes participating in the Olympic games in one village, great concern was expressed by a number of officials who prophesied disagreements among the men of different nationalities, he said. Henry pointed out that during the entire period of the games not one quarrel had taken place in the village in which were 200 athletes of 40 countries.

On the contrary, said the speaker, every consideration was shown opponents in the events. "If anyone wants to start a war it will be hard work to get any of these young men to fight," he said. He said a greater international understanding had been brought about by the Olympic games.

C. H. Robinson, president, announced the next speaker as Dr. H. A. Johnson, of Anaheim, who will speak on "The Romance of Medicine."

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

GOOD GARDENING

By Mrs. H. Cardoza Sloan, Corona Del Mar
Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange county gardens.

THE PLANT VINE whole-hearted charity a robust of all types of plants which growing vine will cover a multi- adorn our good earth none is- tude of architectural sins. How more ingratiating than the vine. When used on buildings of fine line and proportion, how gracefully the slender growing vine embellishes their beauty, and with what we find more grace, more loveliness, more usefulness, more restfulness, more beauty or more fragrance than among the vines. "The plant vine That doth entwine Its tendrils round my heart"— Not all vines entwine with tendrils. Some, indeed, have no provision for attaching themselves to a structure or surface, yet will flow in rivers of green over anything which offers support. Then there are the vines that attach themselves closely to the surface with little feet. Again, in some vines the branch, in some even the leaf stem, will bend itself into a convenient little hook and attach itself to whatever is handy on its climb upward. I watched an interesting example of this one winter when two of the annual canary bird vines grown in pots in my sewing room climbed upward on strings and across from window to window until three windows and two sides of the room were embowered in this dainty vine with its miniature bird-like blossoms. These different habits of growth are most fascinating to study, and, of course, are to be taken into consideration when choosing a vine for some particular position or purpose.

There are places where the need is for a vine which will grow in a more or less compact mass, densely covering its support, admirable for blotting out objectional features. Muehlenbeckia complexa, the "Wire Vine," is a vine of this type, familiar to most Southern Californians. The wire vine is usually an object of admiration to visiting Easterners, who note the resemblance of its foliage to the lovely maidenhair fern.

The honeysuckles come under this head, particularly Lonicera Halliana, "Hall's honeysuckle." This honeysuckle makes an excellent ground cover, too. In the South I have seen it escaping from some planted wall to completely over-run a large field—you can imagine the sweetness of it on a dewy morning? And speaking of honeysuckles, do you know the Giant Chinese honeysuckle, Lonicera hildebrandii? This is our old favorite magnified some ten or twelve times—such large, glossy leaves, such immense clusters of enormous flowers.

The Evergreen Grape is excellent for a dense covering. Vitis Capensis, or the smaller leaved variety, V. Rhombifolia. The bougainvilleas also, and there are so many colors of bougainvillea nowadays besides the old magenta. The old variety is not to be despised, however; planted as we used sometimes to see it years ago with a row of scarlet geraniums at its feet it was enough to give anyone the horrors. But have you seen it massed with the old blue plumbago amidst an abundance of surrounding green? That is quite another picture. The new varieties give us the popular "Crimson Lake" also a rosy pink. And I notice the spring catalogues list a new bronze bougainvillea, "Mrs. Pratorius." I think this must be the same vine I saw growing last fall in the Hugh Evans garden. May I quote from one of our garden chats of last October? "Here is surely the answer to the prayer of the gardener who adores the billowing luxuriance of the bougainvillea but shrinks from its colors. What would you say to a bougainvillea with flower bracts of bronze, glowing with a rich golden tint? Wonderful to grow in gardens where the color scheme runs to gold and tawny, with the right tones of orange and maroon, and quite in harmony near dark blue. B. Pratorius is its name; very free flowering, and will bloom within six months of setting in your garden."

The bignoniads are among our handsomest vines, and there is a lustiness and vigor to their growth which commends them to all gardeners. B. cherrie is very desirable, with incredibly rich growth of foliage and trumpet-shaped flowers blood red with rich yellow at the base. B. Venusta is the most spectacular of all the bignoniads, with its winter bloom in myriads of clusters, rich tones of orange and yellow.

A comparatively new vine of superlative beauty is Distictis cinerea; very strong growing, with flaring trumpet-flowers of a lovely lavender-blue, delightfully fragrant. This belongs to the bignonia family, and comes from South America. From India, reminding us how favored we are in Southern California gardens, comes another beauty, Thunbergia Grandiflora. A vigorous vine with beautiful leaves and more than beautiful flowers of soft lavender-blue. This Thunbergia and the Distictis are vines you should know.

For fences and trellises another new vine of great merit is Hibbertia Volubilis. This a hardy and vigorous grower, and at first glance, with its glossy leaves and single yellow blooms, suggests a very fine single rose climber. It's a grand thing. And right here, though I do not intend to go into climbing roses today, they deserve attention all by themselves. I must mention one which has won exceeding favor—"Mermaid." Grown wherever a climbing rose should grow, with its wealth of shining green foliage and its enchanting single fragrant flowers of soft ivory tint, it will prove a joy and a delight.

Among the larger growing vines there is the Wisteria, beloved by all and beautiful beyond words. What glorious pictures they make, trained along porches or dripping from pergolas—the old favorite Chinese wisteria with lavender-blue flowers and its sweet, sweet scented white variety, or the Japanese wisterias with their longer pendent clusters of bloom.

The blue-flowered Solanum Wendlandii is another fine vine no one should overlook. And what about Solandra Guttata, the "Cup of Gold," with its thick textured shiny leaves and yellow blossom cups? And the totemas; Mackenli, the lovely pink trumpet, is a favorite of mine. I have one with a more sketchy habit of growth and a smaller flower of pinkish orchid called "Queen of Sheba." I seldom see this catalogued, but it is a charming vine. And no lover of vine grows than the Antigonon, "Rosa de Montana." In Florida, where it grows in bewildering beauty, this is known as "Pink Vine" or "Coral Vine." The cut flower sprays are very graceful and decorative.

When it comes to vines that "stick on" there aren't so many, but what there are are most efficient. The English Ivy (but don't plant it on a shingle house); the pretty little creeping fig (Ficus repens) so fine on brick or stone; and the varieties of Ampelopsis, which include the Virginia Creeper and the Boston Ivy.

One turns with special affection to the vines of more delicate habit, and chief among these are the jasmynes. I often give particular thanks that I live in a country "where to the palm the jasmine cleaves," for I do love these sweet scented vines. J. gracillimum is one of the dearest, sometimes called the "pinwheel jasmine" from the shape of its little white flowers. This will grow in shade or sun. Though in an open sunny place, you would probably do better with the so-called "Spanish Jasmine" (which comes from India). J. Grandiflora is its name, and the extremely fragrant flowers are grown in the Mediterranean countries for the essential oils used in perfume. The Chile Jasmine (Mandevilla suaveolens), which isn't a jasmine, but smells like one, is more vigorous in growth and has larger flowers. It is hardy, quick growing, and, oh, so heavenly sweet. It loses its leaves in winter. Another vine which gets in with the jasmynes because of its perfume is the "Star Jasmine" (Rhyncospermum jasmminoides). This is a vine with an accommodating nature, growing equally well in sun or shade. The Grand Duke Jasmine, deliciously fragrant, has double flowers. And there is a new one, J. Stephanense, which has large pink flowers, intensely fragrant. There is the "Carolina jessamine," of slender growth, with golden, sweet scented bells. This is the jasmine so familiar and so lovely in southern woods at spring-time. There are several other yellow flowered jasmynes.

Then there is the dainty Hardenbergia, with racemes of lovely violet-blue flowers. And so many other attractive vines for growing against the house, covering fences, climbing pillars and trailing from arbors. Arbors? "Give me an arbor," sang Walt Whitman, who wanted so many things given him, "Give me an arbor, give me the trellised grape." Which shows Whitman knew his arbors, for of all the vines for an arbor, none can excel the grapevine, with its classic beauty of leaf, the faint, fleeting fragrance of its bloom, the lovely pattern of shadow it casts, and the beauty and lushness of its fruit.

Plant more vines—they will add to your house and garden a grace and charm no other plant can give.

A MESSAGE FROM W. K. KELLOGG

EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share.

As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the American farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.

When we introduced the original Corn Flakes nearly thirty years ago they were spontaneously received. They were crisp and tasted good and they were ready to serve. Year by year we enlarged our factory, hired more workers, bought more premium corn from the farmers.

Two years before NRA we adopted a six-hour working day for our twenty-six hundred employees at good pay. This meant four shifts of six hours and enabled us to give employment to twenty-five per cent more people than in pre-depression times.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are enjoyed daily by millions of people—far more than any other ready-to-eat cereal on the market. We appreciate your preference and will try constantly to give you a better product at greater value. Today you get twice as much in Kellogg's at one-half the price you paid for corn flakes before the war, 1908 to 1914.

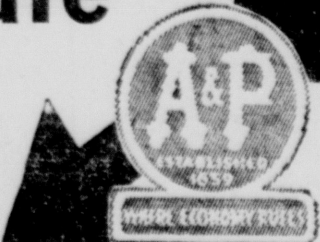

Meanwhile both package and product have been steadily improved. Special processes—exclusively our own—keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes oven-fresh and flavor-perfect right to your table. You can buy them at grocers anywhere with full confidence in their guaranteed purity and quality.

We make only one brand of Corn Flakes—Kellogg's—in the red-and-green package.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

In offering to the Los Angeles territory an entirely new loaf, Honey-Krushed Wheat bread, the Weber Baking company, distributors of the new products, states that this new bread was perfected by an Eastern scientist especially for the relief of constipation.

"But while Honey-Krushed Wheat bread is positively effective in aiding regularity," as was proved in thousands of cases where the bread was tested in the east, this loaf is also an all-around bread in wholesomeness, in flavor and in possessing qualities for all meals and all occasions."

The discoverer of the formula from which Honey-Krushed Wheat bread is made is a college professor, dean of the department of pharmacy in an eastern university. The loaf is made with coarse crushed wheat kernels and pure honey.

"Before Honey-Krushed Wheat bread was made available in Southern California grocery stores," according to a statement by the distributors, "it was tested by food experts and prescribed by many physicians for patients suffering from digestive troubles and improper elimination. Scientists realized the need for this bread when they considered how lack of exercise and sedentary habits interfere with the regularity so necessary to good health. Honey-Krushed Wheat Bread is presented confidently on the strength of its healthful qualities, and at the same time it is thoroughly delicious in taste."

John Cabot, discoverer of Newfoundland, was paid $40 for his discovery.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERA RAMSEY

Thousands of enthusiastic readers of "British Agent" will be delighted to learn that Bruce Lockhart has written the story of his adventures following his return to London after his exciting experiences in Russia. With the same frankness and in the same colorful style "Retreat from Glory" continues from the point where the last book ended.

Assigned to Prague as Commercial Secretary under Sir George Clerk, he was immediately plunged into the maelstrom of Central Europe. It had the strange vitiated atmosphere of the post-war period in which the Peace Treaties were made and to which the troubled state of Europe is due today. Czechs, Rumanians, and Jugo-Slavs were destroying the remains of the Hapsburg Empire; exchanges collapsed; a hundred pounds of capital could make a million. Men, sick to death of war and swept off their balance by its end were too tired to think and to bent on pleasure to care. As in Russia, Lockhart soon was a favorite with the most best figures of the day. His vivid, highly personalized descriptions of Masaryk, Benes, Striscmann, mad Prince George of Serbia and many others, stand out from his pages with a startling clarity and brilliance.

You will meet again some of the people of "British Agent." You will shoot and fish on the favorite preserves of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand. You will meet Lockhart as a banking agent, dizzy financial transactions passing through his hands. You will interview the ex-Kaiser at Doorn. In short, you will follow Lockhart through a series of events and adventures quite as amazing as those described in "British Agent." Like the former book "Retreat from Glory" will be an experience you will never forget.

The January selection of the Religious Book Club is "God and the Social Progress" by Louis Wallis. This book is a new adventure in the field of historical theology.

"TROUBLED WITH CONSTIPATION" FOR PAST 25 YEARS"

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Welcome Relief

Read this voluntary letter from Mr. Lecour: "I have been troubled with constipation" for the past 25 years. I tried practically every cathartic without results.

"Recently, I determined to give Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a fair trial. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but I believe it is an actual relief for chronic constipation."—Mr. Henry E. Lecour, 4 Vaughan Ave., Worcester, Mass.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. It also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle—and safe for normal individuals. Often more effective than "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body.

Isn't this natural food pleasanter than patent medicines? Just eat two tablespoons daily. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Keep on the Sunny Side of Life

By a novel use of the Hebrew sources, it carries Old Testament criticism out of the established literary-historical phase into an economic-sociological stage. Thus it gives a new picture of Hebrew history and a new sense of the social forces animating the evolution of scriptural monotheism. The author shows why modern culture has not succeeded in welding into unity our triple inheritance from ancient Israel, Greece and Rome. It points out that the orthodox view of scripture is an interpretation of historical facts pertaining to a past period. The truth is that Israel's distinctive idea of God arose at a period when civilization was falling into decay through many of the same causes now at work in modern society.

"God and the Social Process" is a secular treatise on Hebrew history. This has been accomplished with accuracy and insight. By its new approach to this old and interesting subject it has made the history of this people come alive. It supports by a mass of detailed evidence, the functional relation of religion to the cultural process.

Many writers are concerned over the devastations wrought in the field of arts and letters by the official communist identification of "proletarian art" with party propaganda. In "Artists in Uniform," Max Eastman makes a study of literature and bureaucraticism.

This idea, Mr. Eastman maintains, is in conflict with the news of Marx and Lenin as well as Trotsky. He believes that it is all part of the process by which Stalin has bureaucratized the Soviet regime and whipped the international communist movement into line behind his personal boss rule.

It contains dramatic revelations of the social and economic pressure brought to bear by politicians upon all independent creative genius in Soviet Russia between 1924 and 1932. The chief literary events of the period, he contends, were "silences of prose writers and suicides of poets." He describes these silences with "inside stories," thoroughly documented, showing how all the leading Soviet writers were either destroyed, silenced, or forced into line behind the party machine.

This book is a contribution to the historic, and at the moment especially vigorous controversy between art and propaganda. The author is uniquely qualified to deal with the problem, for he is a recognized student of Marxism, and through his intimacy with Trotsky, he has learned the truth about the literary affairs in Soviet Russia.

SOMETHING SAVED ON EVERYTHING

SELLING THE SECURITIES' ACT TO THE FINANCIERS

Mr. J. P. Kennedy, Chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, made an address to the bankers and brokers of New York, in which he tried to show them both the reasonableness and the inevitability of such legislation, both to protect investors and to restore the confidence of investors in financial promotion houses.

He pointed out that 20 years ago Elihu Root prophesied that the government would have to assume an administrative function over such matters, owing to the growing complexity of modern economic society. Could they but see it, he added, they would recognize that all this regulatory legislation was not begotten in hate and rancor, but, as Mr. Root said, as the logical result of the complexities of life.

Mr. Kennedy is a conservative banker. There was considerable opposition on the part of the liberals to his appointment as head of the commission. What he says ought to be taken to the heart by the financiers of the exchanges, lest something worse might overtake them.

The application of the provisions of the new law has been patient and temperate. Even Jim Landis, once looked upon as the radical of the commission, is reported as going conservative.

All of which shows that there is no disposition on the part of the commission to run amuck. If stock brokers know what is best for themselves, they will work with the commission.

All of them recognize now that there were serious abuses in the stock exchanges, and they should welcome a commission willing to go with them in the reform of these abuses.

These stock brokers may not take so much money as they did in the booming '20s, but neither will they have to go through the dry times which followed that mad speculative plunge.

They will wake up some day to learn that under the old plan they were headed for ruin, and that the Securities' act was really a life saver.

MONEY EARNING LOWER INTEREST

The Southern California Edison Company is borrowing $72,500,000 at 3 3/4 per cent; the Pacific Gas & Electric Company has just completed a loan of $45,000,000 at 4 per cent; Swift & Company borrowed $48,000,000 at 3 3/4 per cent, and Armour & Company is negotiating a loan of $90,000,000 at 3 3/4 per cent.

All of these corporations are retiring bonds paying interest at the rate of 5 per cent or more and replacing their obligations with long term bonds at a considerable saving. People who loan small amounts of money will find it harder and harder to find good loans with ample security at the rate of interest their present loans are paying. While some economists probably will cite this as the necessary preliminary to the stabilization of our price structure, it may be simply the evidence that capital, depending upon geometric profits for increase, is finding that the end is being reached.

It is well known that the only way that you can continue to invest surplus income, whether it comes to you in the form of interest, rent or profits, is through expansion in some field.

There is no such field now apparent. And most of the creditor group realize that to not their money in expansion, or in fields which are already thoroughly covered in that particular line, is to lose the investment or force the other man to lose it.

Hence the enormous profits, in the aggregate, which are now being made, are finding no market for their investment. And what really is happening is competition between the money-holders to become creditors for those who are still paying interest. The interest payers are getting the benefit.

The rate, if this thing keeps up, will reach the vanishing point.

BUSINESS WITH LATIN AMERICA IMPROVING

While the alarmists are crying, "Japan is taking our Latin American business," let's turn to the record. During the last two years our business with South America increased $31,000,000, that of Japan increased $11,500,000. Our trade with Central America increased $65,000,000 while that of Japan increased $14,600,000.

The more sensational way of stating the trade position of Japan is to say that while our trade with South America increased 50 per cent, that of Japan increased 500 per cent. But before we put on a gloomy face let us count our blessings. Japan would be happy to enjoy our great increase of business with our neighbors to the south.

Percentages make Japan's trade look good, but she has a long way to go.

POOR DAN CUPID!

The winged archer, whose shafts of love, are supposed to create romance that will bring trips to the honeymoon altar, has another obstacle to overcome when he deals with Santa Ana High school lads and lassies.

At any rate that may be the interpretation placed on results of a survey just taken among students in the Social Problems classes. The question was asked what wage the boys expected to earn before asking a girl to marry them. In two classes the average was $55 per week, in another $66. The respective averages that girls said they would expect prospective husbands to be earning before they would accept them, were $45, $46.75 and $61 per week.

Maybe D. Cupid had better tip his darts with gold when he aims at Santa Ana youngsters.

SHOOTING AT A MOVING GOAL

A fixed target is fairly easy to hit, as every amateur has learned when he has tried his luck with a fixed target in a summer resort shooting gallery. But when he tries to hit those moving figures of birds and other creatures, his aim is very apt to miss the mark.

This is the difficulty that confronts Mr. Hoover and other critics of the administration. There is no fixed target at which to aim. The program of the administration is very flexible.

No opponent can be sure that the thing he aims at will be there a month from now. Nothing is stable and static in Washington these days.

The president has a program, but he is subject to counsel, both from congress and from leaders in the various activities of society. Congress is not out of hand from the president, but he is willing to share responsibility with congress. And if congress in its wisdom chooses to modify details of his plan, he is willing to make compromises so far as they do not affect the vital elements of his measures.

Great powers have been given to commissions, but the president has appointed discreet men to carry out the reforms proposed in measures delegated to commissions. Thus far, the opponents of the administration have been hard put to it to find vulnerable or stable spots at which to aim.

At the very time when they are crying out against dictatorship and bureaucracy, there is a disposition on the part of the administration to lessen central control and bureaucratic powers.

Only so far as these are necessary to promote recovery and an escape from the system which led to the debacle of 1929 will they be maintained. And efforts to thwart the administration in this program will receive short shrift from the voting public.

These are perplexing days for the opposition, for there is no absolutely fixed target to aim at which may not have moved on when the voters have another decision to make. As Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times says, "The president is entitled to what amusement he can get from Mr. Hoover's call for a fixed Republican opposition."

THE LATEST IN BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson are playing 200 rubbers of bridge with Mr. and Mrs. Sims. The ballyhoo has it that this contest will determine which system of bidding is superior, (which it won't do). But it has already established one thing, the man has a right to be rude. When Mr. Culbertson treated his wife to a nasty look and a remark, she took it; and when Mr. Sims did the same for his wife, she took it.

Furthermore, remarks passed at the bridge table between the two ladies, are calculatingly "catty" and cutting. So if there are any bridge players who can't take a set graciously, just remember that those who set bridge style place no emphasis whatever on the so-called "friendship angle" of the game. And besides catty remarks travel faster, spread farther, and get better as they are repeated.

Seriously, however, this discourtesy and ungentlemanliness, on the part of these noted bridge players, does not enhance either their reputation or their value to the people of culture in the country.

Rules and style of bidding may be of importance in a bridge game. But graciousness, kindness and courtesy are the virtues which make a happy evening. And these are more important for the real joy of life than is the score.

Culbertson and Sims evidently represent the business and the commercial side of this generally popular game. As this becomes important the game really loses its value to the people.

BARUCH AND FOREIGN INVESTMENTS

"No national has the right to go into the trouble zone and expect this nation to back him if he gets into difficulties."

There are the words of Bernard Baruch. The attitude expressed by these words is the one that has been constantly emphasized by those who are opposed to war.

There is no other sane position to assume. And it should be remembered that almost every place in foreign lands where one can invest money is a danger zone, potential or actual.

Two groups have tended to cause war with those countries where money is invested, particularly to take sides in civil war. One is always the munition makers who are profiting from both scares and reality.

The other is the man who has invested in the other country and doesn't like the new laws that are being passed and wants his "big brother," the government, to come in and help him to make the profits that he expected to make.

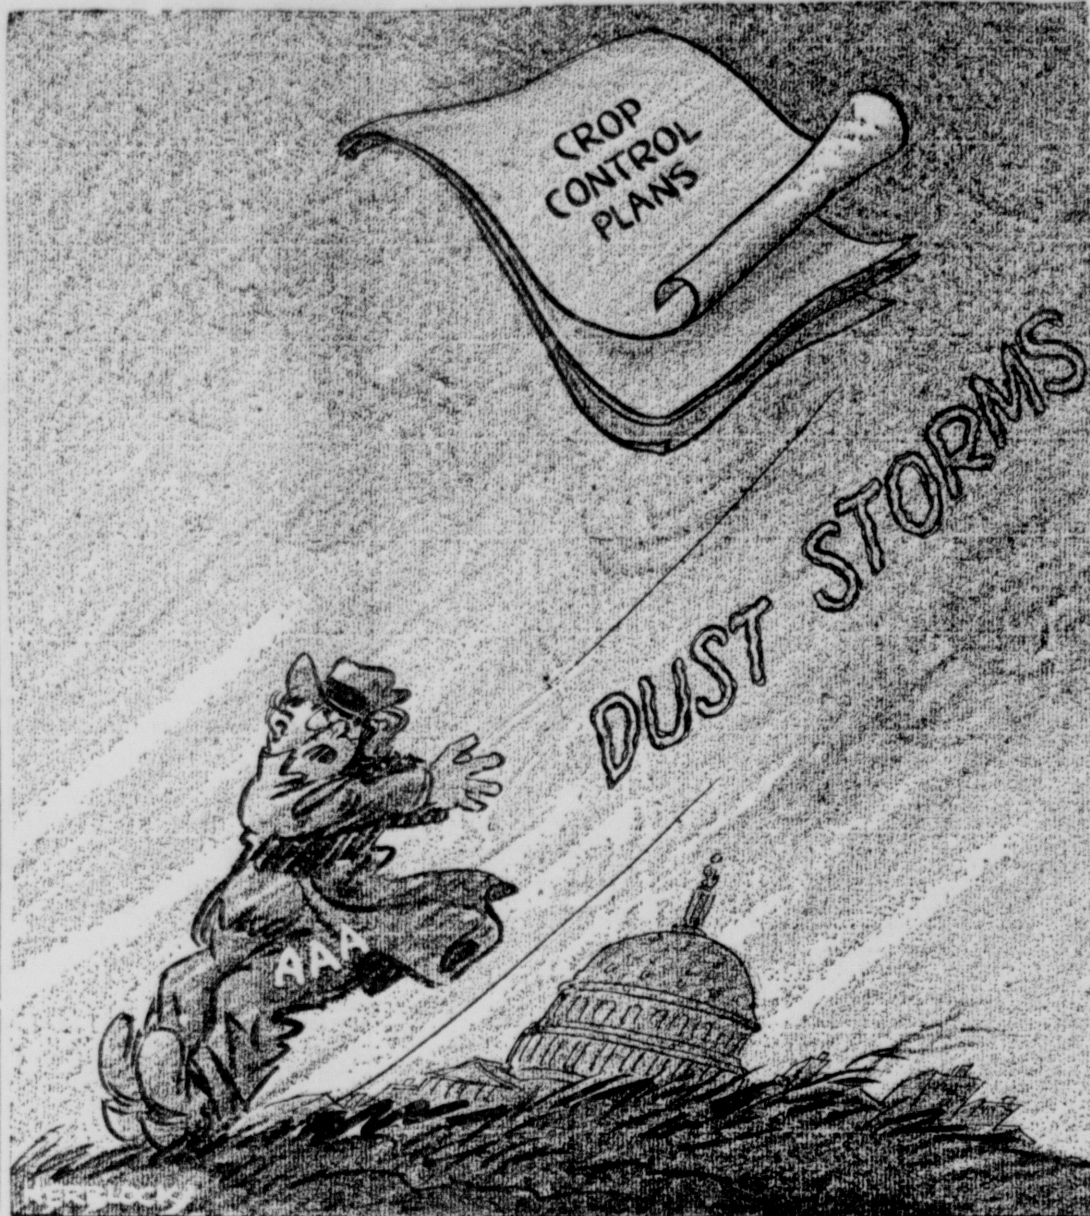

We are beginning to be impressed that the public sentiment of this country is finally reaching the minds of the Schwabs and Baruches at Washington and New York.

AVIATION ENGINES MARVELS OF ENDURANCE

One of the largest aviation companies is announcing that hereafter it will pursue a policy of scrapping its motors after they have flown 2,500 hours. Translated into distance it means a total of between 400,000 and 500,000 miles.

Wartime motors had a life of only one-tenth of the present motors. An individual buying a pleasure airplane today might well expect the motor to remain serviceable for the rest of his or her life.

More Truth Than Poetry

BE WARNED IN TIME

Psychiatrists declare that gangster types are likely to develop among the children of the well-to-do.

When baby wantonly destroys
His lovely little painted toys,
When he displays
Annoying ways
It's time that something should be done
From which you cannot win him,
Lest later he may buy a gun
And steal and loot
And rob and shoot—
A gangster's soul is in him.

The law must take in hand a child
Who has an urge for running wild;
Should he delight
To scratch and bite
With violence unstinted,
At once the services enlist
Of some well-known psychiatrist
So on the spot
The ferat lot
May have his fingers printed.

Do not let children in their youth
Desert the shining path of truth,
Or get bad starts
By robbing carts
Of early watermelons;
Unless they are appraised in time
How futile is a life of crime,
You may depend
That they will end
As wicked, wanton felons.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

TOWARDS AN ECONOMIC STATE

In the beginning days of the republic, the struggle was for political democracy. Today the struggle is for economic democracy. The important units in political democracy have been states and regions. The important units in economic democracy must be the great functional groups such as business, industry, agriculture and the like.

It is inevitable, unless we are willing to let the economic order lapse into chronic chaos, that something approximating an economic state shall grow up inside the political state. Only so can an orderly economic life be achieved.

The NIRA and the AAA have been rightly compared by Secretary Wallace to the Articles of Confederation which preceded the drafting of the constitution. They have the same unavoidable crudity that attends pioneer adventure. But they are first steps towards a constitutionalism for economic democracy, as the Articles of Confederation were the first steps towards a political democracy.

No one of insight, regardless of party, dreamed of a reaction to unrestrained laissez-faire. The march towards orderly economic self-government can no longer be halted than the march towards orderly political self-government can be halted. But as Mazzini pointed out to Italy years ago, and as Mr. Wallace has lately been pointing out to America, economic self-government requires that economic groups, like states in a political democracy, must recognize duty as well as right; must know that one cannot expect alone to "hog" the show and that each must surrender some power to the common purpose.

More than ever, we need statesmanlike men in the field of enterprise as well as the field of government, who can see the nation steadily and see it while, in this phase of an emerging economic state, Copyright, 1935, McClure Newspaper Syn.

It is nice to be nice, the story goes, but isn't it dreadful to be too nice? So nice that you spoil a child's happiness, rob him of any feeling of security he might have? That is too nice altogether. "Roger, I was so disappointed. I never felt so flat in my life. To think that you would make such a mistake before such people, too, when I have been telling you over and over that right thing to say."

"What did I do now?" "When I introduced you to John Arnold you said, 'Pleased to meet you.'" "Well, suppose I did? What of it?" "You should have said, 'How do you do?'"

"For the love of pity what difference does it make?" "The difference is that one is right and the other is wrong. When you say the wrong thing you show ignorance of the first rules of good manners. It is important to me if it isn't to you, I've done my best to teach you." "All right. Hereafter I won't tell your friends I'm happy to meet them. I'm not happy to meet them anyway, so it will give me a break at that."

Good manners are a fine asset. Nobody can afford to be without them. But such a point as this is scarcely worth troubling a boy about. Manners in such detail make a boy self-conscious and over-mannered. Good manners are never strained, never obvious. The natural thing for this boy to say was, "Pleased to meet you." What harm was done? Right and wrong are too broad in their implications for such a matter.

It is on this point that many a stickler comes to grief. Manners are not a matter of fundamental morality. They are forms. They are surface things. They assume the virtues of character before those virtues exist. The assumption is in itself good. It lays the foundation for the moralities that are basic to character. Children must be taught good manners so that they can assimilate good morals.

It is this idea that makes mothers and teachers so insistent
